LAND SALE TO RAILROAD IS HELD UP BY THE CITY

Aldermanic Board Acquiesces to Request of Freight Bureau.

L. & N. WISHES TO PURCHASE RIGHT OF WAY FROM CITY

Matter Was Agreed To by Council, but Aldermanic Board Will Not Concur Until Progress Has Been Made in Freight Rate Fight.

The sale of a right of way through the dumping grounds to the Atlanta, Knoxville and Northern railroad was held up yesterday afternoon by the aldermanic board until November 1, when the board is to meet in adjourned session and consider the proposition.

This action was the result of two causes. The first is that the freight bureau has requested the general council to grant no more concessions to any railroads until they manifest a disposition to treat with the business men of the city regarding freight rates, and the second is that the members of the aldermanic board were not exactly satisfied with the shape in which the proposed sale of the land was found to be.

The meeting of November 1 is to be held at 3 o'clock in the afternoon and representatives of both the freight bureau and of the Atlanta, Knoxville and Northern will be invited to be present for the purpose of presenting their respective sides of the case.

It is probable that it will be a lively hearing, for the reason that the right of way through the dumping grounds is said to be almost indispensable to the Atlanta, Knoxville and Northern if that road is to continue building its tracks into the city. It is therefore expected that the road will make a strong fight to have the sale of the property agreed to by the city authorities. The freight bureau, on the other hand, will doubtless realize the importance of the sale of land and will present objections to the members of the aldermanic board.

Large Price for Land.

By the sale of land to the Atlanta, Knoxville and Northern the city would have received $4,000, and in addition the railroad had agreed to erect new stables for the sanitary department on the dumping grounds, to maintain a spur track 800 feet long for the benefit of the city, to erect fences around both the stable and the new right of way, to construct a new bridge across a creek and to give the city the right to open a grade crossing over the right of way at any place at any time.

The right of way was to have been 100 feet wide and was to have run directly through the dumping grounds on Bellwood avenue. This strip of land separates the property of the Atlanta, Knoxville and Northern on one side of the dumping grounds. The property by the Atlanta Freight Bureau, and the railroad men did not anticipate any difficulty in effecting a trade.

Now, however, that the railroads have acquired by paying large prices property on both sides of the dumping grounds, there will doubtless be considerable consternation when it is learned that Atlanta has held up the sale of the dumping grounds land because of the complaints of the business men of Atlanta that they are not treated fairly by the railroads.

Will Make Determined Stand.

The Atlanta Freight Bureau will probably make a determined stand over this matter during the meeting of the aldermanic board on November 1.

The motion to postpone action upon the measure was made yesterday afternoon by Alderman Hugh T. Inman and rate fight had not then been commenced on both sides was purchased but the railroad officials did not particularly hurry about acquiring the land from was agreed to without discussion by the entire board.

Another matter of interest during the meeting of the aldermanic board yesterday afternoon consisted of a nonconcurrence on the resolution of the committee on public buildings and grounds to sell a triangle at the corner of Jackson street and Summit avenue for $200 and a triangle at the corner of Oak and Whitehall streets for $50.

This nonconcurrence was the result of a talk by Mayor Pro Tem. Longino, who objected to the sales on the grounds that the city needs these small lots for public comfort buildings that he thinks it will be necessary to erect in the near future.

Other measures that received the favorable action of council were concurred in.

TO DEVELOP TIMBER LANDS.

Yellow Pine Lands Company Owns 50,000 Acres.

Birmingham, Ala., October 20.—(Special.)—The judge of probate of Jefferson county today granted a charter to the Yellow Pine Lands Company under the corporation act of Alabama of 1903. The corporation is composed mainly of Georgians. W. F. Monroe and J. F. Lewis, of Valdosta, Ga.; Charles J. Haden, of Atlanta, Ga., and J. R. Saunders, of Pensacola, Fla., appear on the charter as the principal stockholders.

The purpose of the corporation is to buy, own, operate and develop timbered lands, and it commences with 50,000 acres of such lands. The principal office of the company is fixed by the charter as Birmingham, but it is understood that the company will have offices at Atlanta and Valdosta, Ga., and at some point in Florida yet to be selected.

COLOMBIANS GATHER TO RENEW WARFARE

They Threaten to Attack Culebra on Anniversary of Panama's Secession.

MORE AMERICAN MARINES TO BE SENT TO ISTHMUS

Threatened Trouble Causes Some Concern at Washington—Situation on Isthmus Not All That is Desired by the Administration.

Washington, October 20.—American marines will be retained on the isthmus of Panama for the present, prepared to meet any emergency which may arise as the result of the disgruntled elements in the new republic. This decision was reached today and orders have been issued for a new battalion of marines to go to the island, about November 15, to relieve the battalion which has been there for a year. This new battalion will be commanded by Lieutenant Colonel Thomas N. Wood. The exact number of men in this new battalion has not been decided on, but it probably will be of about the same size as the battalion now on the island, which is to be brought home and dispersed among the marine barracks in the northern part of the United States.

That the situation on the isthmus is still not all that could be desired is the news which came to Washington today in a personal letter from an official now in Panama. While the Panama government is entirely loyal, it seems that there are certain disgruntled elements on the isthmus, and in view of the ease with which revolutions are started in Central and South America, it is the official opinion here that the marines should remain there for the present.

It is hoped that the mission of Secretary Taft will have a far-reaching effect in bringing all elements on the isthmus into harmonious accord with this government's policy.

Colombians Concentrating.

Colon, October 20.—There is a rumor current here that a large body of armed Colombians has been concentrated near Culebra with the intention of making an attack there on November 4, the first anniversary of the secession of Panama from Colombia. The canal zone authorities are investigating the report, though not much importance is attached to the rumor, the origin of which is attributed to malcontents.

Glad Taft Is Coming.

Panama, October 20.—The news from Washington that Secretary of War Taft is to come to the isthmus next month, accompanied by Minister Obaldia and William Nelson Cromwell, counsel of the Panama company, to arrange the matters in controversy between the United States government and Panama and the declarations of President Roosevelt on the subject, are received with satisfaction in all circles. President Amador is in receipt of messages of congratulation from all parts of this republic.

TERRELL OPENS FARMERS' FAIR

Large Crowd is Present the First Day at Chickamauga.

Chattanooga, Tenn., October 20.—(Special.)—The northwest Georgia farmers' fair association threw open the gates of the new fair grounds at Chickamauga yesterday morning to an immense crowd. It was the opening day of the fair, and was called the governors' day in honor of Governor Terrell, who was present and officially opened the fair with a short speech. The governor's speech was listened to with close attention by his audience(who heartily applauded him at intervals. Politics was not mentioned. After the governor's address, Troop H of the Seventh cavalry, gave an exhibition monkey drill in front of the grand stand, following with Roman races.

At 1:30 p. m. a baseball game between Rossville and Trion. At 2:40 trotting races. At 3:30 running races, distance half mile and repeat. It was won by Louis handily by a length against Fonsolee, second. Time :57 flat. The third race was easily won by Lady Ruth, with Blind Tom second.

The attendance yesterday was 3,438, and it is expected to reach 5,000 today.

It is the intention of the north Georgia Fair Association to hold a fair annually at Chickamauga.

Interesting Case on Trial.

Carrollton, Ga., October 20.—(Special.) An interesting suit is on trial in the superior court here. It involves the title to the Klopton Gold Mining Company, of Villa Rica, this county. Suit has been brought in ejectment by two plaintiffs, Asa G. Townsend and W. A. Taylor, against Sidney Holderness, C. H. Simpson, H. L. and Emma L. Rabun to recover property which is claimed by the defendants under sheriffs' sale.

Annex to Cotton Mill.

Elberton, Ga., October 20.—(Special.)—The Swift cotton mills are adding an annex to their large plant. They are now manufacturing the finer quality of goods, and have added this annex for the purpose of increasing the capacity.

USE OF FRANK LAID TO ASHLEY

Claimed That Ashley's Political Matter is Thus Forwarded.

Attention of Postoffice Department Is Called to the Matter by People of the Ninth District of This State.

Gainesville, Ga., October 20.—(Special.)—It is likely that President Roosevelt's postoffice department will have to pass upon an issue raised in the ninth district congressional campaign by the action of the republican candidate, James M. Ashley, who recently removed his citizenship from Ohio to Georgia for the purpose of breaking into congress.

Mr. Ashley recently sent out his letter of acceptance under cover of a document used by congressmen in mailing free to their constituents such speeches and other acts of theirs constituting a part of the record of congress and forming a part of the Congressional Record. Where these additional documents were inserted is not known, as it is said by those receiving same through the mail that the envelopes contained no postmark.

Whether this letter of Mr. Ashley's was inserted under the cover of this franked envelope at this point or not, is not known.

It is a fact beyond question, however, that Mr. Ashley's letter of acceptance was inserted in this franked envelope, containing a part of the Congressional Record. This is strictly in violation of the postoffice regulations, and District Attorney Angier declares it is a violation of law. A penalty for the violation of this law is a fine of $300.

Letter Also Sent.

In addition to the printed letter of acceptance of Mr. Ashley, mailed in this franked enveloped, your correspondent was today shown an autograph letter from a Habersham county citizen, by a gentleman of this city, who declares he received it along with the documents cited above. This letter is a violent and vindictive attack upon the democratic nominee, Hon. Thomas M. Bell, and appeals to the people of the ninth district to vote against him. The letter is of a recent date from a Habersham county postoffice.

The attention of the postoffice department at Washington has been called to these matters

NEGRO AT TABLE JARS CAROLINANS

Party From Connecticut Took African Into Their Hotel.

Without the Knowledge or Consent of the Hotel Proprietor, Members of Governor Chamberlain's Escort Violated Rules of Hostelry.

Raleigh, N. C., October 20.—(Special.) The visit of Governor Chamberlain, of Connecticut, with his staff and his escort, the Governor's Foot Guard, has created a sensation because at Greensboro it became known to the residents that some of the men in the party had, without the knowledge or consent of the hotel proprietors, taken a negro with them to supper.

Up to the time of this discovery there had been great cheering for the visitors.

M'CUE JURY NOT COMPLETED.

Recess Is Taken Until Saturday Morning at Eleven.

Charlottesville, Va., October 20.—The trial of ex-Mayor J. Samuel McCue, charged with the murder of his wife, was resumed in the corporation court here today, the court room being filled. When the defendant came into court his two brothers and a son kissed him. The examination of the talesman for the second venire of fifty men, drawn from Richmond, was begun in an effort to complete the jury.

Only three of the venire of fifty from Richmond were accepted, A. E. Heinrich, Judd B. Wood and John A. Traylor, making a total of twelve who have qualified. Forty-three were rejected because of opinions formed, and three were excused. As four mor are necessary to complete the panel of sixteen from which the jury finally is to be drawn the court ordered the city sergeant to secure a third venire.

A recess was taen until Saturday at 11 a. m., the witnesses, however, being excused until Monday morning.

Big Fire at Dallas.

Dallas, October 20.—Fire at Wallis Point this afternoon destroyed the national bank building and three other establishments, entailing a loss of $30,000. Insurance partial.

DID ROOSEVELT BRING ABOUT PANAMA REVOLT

Senator Culberson's Speech at Carnegie Hall, New York, Last Night.

TERMS PANAMA AFFAIR AS VERY DISGRACEFUL

To Show Lawlessness of the President He Reviews the Whole Matter—Reads Letter from Hay to Herran, Which Was Withheld from Congress, Etc.

New York, October 20.—Senator Charles A. Culberson, of Texas, was the principal speaker at a democratic meeting tonight at Carnegie hall.

Senator Culberson devoted the greater portion of his remarks to a discussion of the Panama canal, going into detail with the revolution by which Panama became an independent state and the subsequent negotiations which resulted in the canal treaty. Alluding to what he termed "the spirit of lawlessness which led the president in this disgraceful affair," he declared that the transaction "above all others in his career, strikingly typified his contempt of all legal restraint and his insatiable passion for personal and arbitrary government."

Continuing Senator Culberson said:

"Choosing an occasion on which he can appeal to the avarice of the people and thus temper their spirit of resistance to usurpation, he respected neither legal bounds nor national good faith, and, as the incident serves to illustrate not only his imperious and despotic nature, but the danger to the country, which is involved in his election, it is well to understand it, for, beside a want of general information upon the subject, important facts have been deliberately withheld from the public."

He then sketched the course of events in the passage by congress of the bill known as the "Spooner law," authorizing the canal, and charged that the president, in his course with Colombia, "defiantly violated both its letter and spirit." He claimed that the Hay-Herran treaty, if not nullified by the unanimous vote of the Colombian senate disapproving it, expired by limitation upon the failure of Colombia to approve it within the time fixed for its ratification. He entered with detail into the legal aspect of the matter, and continuing said:

"It is astonishing, in view of these indisputable facts, that the defense of the president with reference to this statute should be placed by himself and his party upon the ground that when he entered into the Panama treaty the time within which he could lawfully deal with that route had not expired."

"It is interesting," added Senator Culberson, "in this connection, to read the president's message to congress, January 4, 1904, in which he said:

"'As events turned out, the question of reasonable time did not enter into the matter at all * * * and yet there had not been a lapse of a reasonable time—using the word reasonable in any proper sense—such as would justify the administration going to the Nicaragua route.'

Letter That Was Withheld.

"Then," he continued, "read the following letter from Secretary Hay to Minister Herran which has never before been published:

"'Department of State, Washington, January 21, 1903.—Dear Dr. Herran: I am directed by the president to say to you that, in his opinion, the "reasonable time" allowed him by the statute to conclude negotiations with Colombia for the construction of an isthmian canal has come to a close, and cannot be extended. He authorizes me to sign with you the treaty of which I have had the honor to give you a draft, with this change, that the sum of $100,000 annual payment therein mentioned be increased to $250,000. I am not authorized to consider or discuss any other change whatever.' * * *

"'JOHN HAY.'

"While the president," continued the speaker, "in defense of his revolutionary course was prescribing the opposite view of the country in his message and by his partisans in congressional debates, and while public opinion upon the question was forming, this letter was significantly withheld even from the senate for months though others upon the general subject were transmitted.

"The character of this occasion necessarily precludes an extended discussion of the details of the fabricated rebellion in Panama or the legal questions which pertain to it. It must suffice to say that the national administration, in precipitate and guilty haste, anticipated and discounted the time for the revolt. It magnified the number and character of the insurgents, and officers of the government connived at a subterfuge to deceive and corrupt the forces sent to subrue the insurrection. Not satisfied with these illegal and wrongful and discreditable acts, but purposing to complete the intended spoliation, the administration within two days recognized the mock government it alone created and upheld, and within two weeks, in the very midst of actual, though bloodless war, it accepted a cession of the territory from a French adventurer who organized the conspiracy in the shadow of the national capitol.

"I accept it as true that the executive officers of the administration did not officially and publicly instigate the revolt in Panama, but that the administration, including the president, privately favored and encouraged the movement; that this was widely known, is susceptible of demonstration, and in a matter of this

JAPANESE STORY OF THE FIGHTING

Manchurian Headquarters Sends in a Telegram.

Tells of the Movements of Both Armies the Past Two or Three Days—Russians Still Hold Waitao Mountain—Some Skirmishing.

Tokio, October 20, 5 p. m.—Manchuria headquarters, telegraphing yesterday, reviews the situation at the front as follows:

"Yesterday the center column of the right army attacked and dislodged the enemy's cavalry holding Tunchiafen, but a small body of the enemy's infantry has returned to that eminence.

"The enemy continues to hold Waitao mountain.

"On the morning of October 19 two battalions of the enemy's infantry were visible near Kaokwanchia, laying to the right of the right army, and they appeared to have supports in the rear. The strength of the latter is under investigation.

"On the afternoon of October 19 the right wing of the center column discovered two battalions and a battery of the enemy advancing in its front from Tunchiafen to Titi mountain. They concealed themselves behind Titi mountain.

"One brigade of the enemy is located near Fenchiapao. The enemy's guns north of Fenchiapao occasionally shell our positions. There is no change in front of the left column of the right army.

"There has been no change in front of the center army, except that there are occasional exchanges of shells.

BIG DEAL IS CONSUMMATED.

Steel Company Buys Coal Company's Property.

Birmingham, Ala., October 20.—A deal was consummated today by which the Alabama Steel and Wire Company acquires possession of the properties of the Underwood Coal Company, located at Altoona. The purchase price is nearly $300,000 on a cash basis. This puts the Alabama Steel and Wire Company in possession of a connecting link between their immense holdings in Alabama. Their steel mills and furnace are located at Gadsden, while their rod and nail mills are at Ensley, near Birmingham. The new coal property is between the two and will furnish fuel for all the plants.

PURVIANCE LEAPS FROM A WINDOW

Prominent Surgeon While Suffering Jumps To Death.

Nurse at Hospital Saw Him on Balcony and Tried To Prevent Him From Jumping—Came Near Losing Her Life.

Philadelphia, October 20.—Suffering from acute nervous disorders, Dr. George H. Purviance, of Washington, D. C., assistant surgeon general of the marine hospital service, jumped from the fourth story window of the Orthopaedic hospital in this city this evening and was instantly killed. A nurse who attempted to prevent the doctor from leaping to the sidewalk had a thrilling escape from death. Dr. Purviance had been closely watched. This evening the nurse saw him open a window on the fourth floor and step out on a small balcony. She followed quickly and grasped the doctor on the shoulder as he was climbing over the balcony rail. He tried to free himself, and then caught the nurse about the waist and was slowly dragging her over the rail when she managed to break his hold on her. Before she could again seize him the invalid plunged head foremost into an areaway below the sidewalk. He was dead when picked up.

Fifty Million in Money Orders.

Washington, October 20.—The total number of money orders issued by this government during the last fiscal year passed the 50,000,000 mark for the first time in history, as shown by the annual report of the superintendent of the money order system. The net revenue of the money order business was $2,598,403, an increase of $288,494, as compared with the previous fiscal year. The gross revenue was $3,826,676, an increase of $308,100. Domestic orders paid and repaid numbered 50,550,368, aggregating $378,511,407.

Raleigh, N. C., October 20.—(Special.)—The North Carolina Agricultural Society, in session here, tonight reelected Ashley Horne, president; Joseph E. Pogue, secretary; Claude B. Denson, treasurer. A committee was appointed to arrange for holding an exposition two weeks next October.

DENSE FOG STOPS ALL HOSTILITIES

It Renders Any Advance by Either Side Dangerous.

Pall Causes the Opponents To Call a Halt in Their Bloody Work—No Report from Stoessel Received by Czar Since October 10.

St. Petersburg, October 21.—2:30 a. m.—Apart from skirmishes and exploits of scouting parties there is almost a complete suspension of operations in Manchuria. The heavens have interposed to put a stop to bloodshed. Rain, impassable roads and exhausted armies are factors sufficient in themselves to explain the cessation of hostilities and these conditions are aggravated by a dense fog overspreading the whole of the theater of war. Behind this pall either side would be able to change the disposition of the whole forces in absolute secrecy, but the obscurity renders absolutely dangerous any attempt at a forward movement. When the curtain of mist is lifted, the fighting may be resumed under totally changed conditions.

Night Attack Repulsed.

Associated Press correspondents at the Russian headquarters record a successful repulse of a night attack on Russian outposts in the early hours of October 19. The Russians pursued the Japanese and captured a gun, which, under the cover of the fog, they were able to remove.

The wild flight of the rumors continues in St. Petersburg of the rout or capture of Japanese divisions and scores of guns alternating with alarmist stories of General Kuropatkin's retreat on Mukden, all equally untrue. The war office declares that there have been no serious developments since the capture of Lone Tree hill last Sunday, and authorizes the Associated Press to deny the report that a Russian battalion had been annihilated in trying to recross the Taitse river. A prominent general said:

"It is absurd to suppose that a battalion was still on the other side of the Taitse river when the whole of the eastern flank had withdrawn sixteen miles north of the river."

Waiting on the Weather.

As to the stories of General Kuropatkin's retreat, it is sufficient to refer to the energetic scouting behind the Japanese lines to show that the Russian commander is determined to engage the enemy as soon as the weather permits.

Emperor Nicholas has received no report from General Stoessel, the military commander at Port Arthur, since October 10.

A correspondent of The Russky Listok sends to that paper a graphic account of the fighting by General Bilderling's corps on October 12, when the Russian right flank was broken. It now develops that disaster was averted solely by the timely arrival of General Soboleff's Sixth Siberian corps, composed almost entirely of reservists, many regiments of which were experiencing in their first taste of actual war. The correspondent telegraphs that General Oku's desperate onslaught forced back General Bilderling and drove in Stakhovich's cavalry, which was guarding Bilderling's right. The situation was most critical, but the Sixth crops, which had been held in reserve, promptly came up and supported Bilderling and things assumed a brighter aspect. The fighting was exceedingly furious. Two reserve corps regiments which had not before been under fire, bore the brunt of the Japanese advance and obstinantely held their ground. The following day the battle was resumed with the fullest intensity. The Japanese threw themselves headlong against the positions of the Sixth and Seventeenth corps. The fighting continued the whole day, despite a terrific downpour of rain and a fearful thunder storm. A Japanese battery dashed out from General Oku's right and opened a deadly fire upon the Russian trenches until the left artillery brigade came into action.

JAPANESE LEFT ARMY LOST FIVE THOUSAND.

Tokio, October 20.—Reports received from private sources estimate the losses of the Japanese left army during the recent battles at 5,000. The Russian dead is largely increased by the further discovery of bodies, notwithstanding the nightly removals by lantern light.

The Russian forces have been reinforced by about 30,000 men of the seventeenth corps, a large portion of the tenth corps and portions of the fifth and sixth Siberian corps, which recently arrived. In all six divisions of the army now confront the Japanese left army. Heavy rains have impeded the movements of the opposing forces since October 17.

RUSSIAN BALTIC FLEET WILL COAL AT MADEIRA.

Berlin, October 20.—A dispatch from the Tageblatt's correspondent at Kiel says he learns from the Russian fleet the plans of the future movements of the vessels. They will, he adds, proceed separately to the island of Madeira, where they will coal.

The battle ships and large cruisers will then start for the Far East by way of Cape of Good Hope and the smaller vessels will go by way of the Suez canal. The fleet will reassemble at the Sundal islands (Malay archipelago) and thence the fleet will go to Vladivostok, where it is expected to arrive in eighty-five days. As the fleet will reach Vladivostok in mid winter, when the harbor is frozen, the ice breaker Ermak will accompany the vessels.

First Battle of Shakhe River May Be Said to Have Ended.

ACTIVITY PREVENTED BY IMPENETRABLE FOG

Hinted in Russian Military Circles That Something Will Happen Toward the East, But It Is Not Known Who Will Advance.

WITH the country enveloped in thick fog and the roads in wretched condition, activity is, for the time being, impossible for the Japanese or Russian army south of Mukden. There have been several brisk skirmishes and some surprises of a minor character, but the lifting of the fog must precede any notable conflict of the hostile forces. No official report from the commander at Port Arthur later than October 10 has reached St. Petersburg.

MUKDEN, October 20—1:35 p. m.—The hostile forces today have been concealed from each other by a dense fog in which it is impossible to make out objects at a distance of 100 paces. Under such conditions only unimportant operations are possible, such as surprise ambushes. Possibly were the roads in better condition the fog might favor movements of troops and concentration at unexpected points, but without this operations on a large scale would be dangerous, and so everything has been quiet today. Neither cannonading or musketry has been audible.

ARMS AND AMMUNITION CAPTURED BY JAPANESE.

Tokio, October 20.—2 p. m.—It is announced at headquarters that the left Japanese army captured near Langtouchien six ammunition carts, 5,354 rifles, 4,920 rounds of field gun ammunition, 78,000 rounds of rifle ammunition and tents, clothing, sabers and implements.

SAILING OF BALTIC FLEET LOWERS JAPANESE RISKS.

London, October 20.—In spite of the fact that the Baltic squadron is at sea, war risks on clothing, etc., for Japan are weaker. This seems rather absurd, since the squadron will certainly be capable of intercepting merchant vessels carrying contraband goods for Japan.

BATTLE BELOW MUKDEN HEAVY BLOW TO RUSSIA.

With General Oku's Left Army, at the Front, October 16.—4 p. m.—Via Tien-tsin (Delayed.)—The seven days' battle north of Yental was the heaviest blow yet struck the Russians by the Japanese, so far as loss of life is concerned. The left Japanese army during the week buried 4,100 Russian dead left in front of its lines. A village in front of the left wing contains many Russian dead, but the shell fire of the retreating Russians prevented the Japanese from reaching them.

Conservative estimates place the Russian casualties at not less than 25,000. Probably many more dead are on the field in places not yet searched. The Japanese report their total casualties at a little over 3,000 killed and wounded. The principal Russian casualties occurred in determined counter attacks against each village captured by the Japanese. The Russian attacking parties were in many cases entirely annihilated.

For the first time the Russians have met the Japanese on an equal footing, not having strong defensive positions to depend upon, and for the first time they attacked the Japanese in their own trenches. The Russians everywhere fought bravely, but they were unable to drive the Japanese out or to hold their own positions against fierce charges.

Almost in every case the Russians retired from their positions at the first charge, then made repeated attempts to recapture them. The Japanese left army with a front of nearly ten miles moved forward about five miles, fighting every inch of ground.

The final retreat of the Russians was almost a rout. The Japanese extreme left advanced, driving the remnant of Russians ahead. The Russians covered their retreat well with artillery and carried away much baggage and many wounded.

At 7:30 o'clock this morning the Russians made a determined counter attack at Lamuting with two regiments of infantry and two batteries of artillery. They were repulsed after a half hour's fighting with heavy loss. The Japanese left army during the past seven days' fighting has captured thirty-four guns, a large number of rifles and overcoats and 100 prisoners.

The strength of the Russians opposed to the left army were three corps and thirty companies of artillery. All but a

FORTS CAPTURED AT PORT ARTHUR

Japs Get Important Points on Rihlung Mountain.

After Repulsing Russian Sortie Japanese Made Quick Attack, Which Surprised Russians and Resulted in Fall of Minor Forts.

Chefoo, October 20.—3 p. m.—The most important recent events at Port Arthur include the capture by the Japanese of further minor positions near Rihlung mountain and the severe damage of a Japanese torpedo boat destroyer by striking a floating mine.

According to Chinese advices, which reached here today, and which are confirmed in essential points by Japanese letters from Port Dalny, the Japanese made assaults on the remaining outer works of Rihlung mountain at dawn October 8 and were repulsed. The following day the Russians made an attack on the Japanese trenches, and they in turn were repulsed. The Japanese immediately followed with another assault, resulting in the capture of an iron railroad bridge and the heights south of the bridge, which is 500 yards from the main fortress.

The importance of these captures lies in the fact that they curtail the Russian fire in harassing Japanese who may attempt to advance on the trenches located on the slope of Rihlung mountain. This attack seems to have been a surprise for the Russians, the Japanese claiming that they lost only fifty men. Since the capture of the points mentioned the Japanese assert that they have successfully resisted numerous sorties in attempts to recapture them.

Sortie Made by Destroyers.

At 10 o'clock in the morning of October 12, seven Russian torpedo boat destroyers emerged from the harbor of Port Arthur, and later they were followed by two more destroyers. This squadron proceeded to Shao-Ping-Tau and bombarded the Japanese left flank. Four Japanese torepdo boat destroyers hurried to the scene and the Russians retired to the harbor, followed by the Japanese. The pursuit ceased on entering the mines area. One Japanese destroyer while returning hit a mechanical mine and was severely damaged, but she managed to reach Port Dalny, and is now being repaired.

Meanwhile the Japanese siege guns continued to drop big shells in the harbor, the Japanese claiming that they damaged the Russian gunboat Giliant, which is alleged to have been hit three times and to have changed her anchorage from the east basin to the shelter of Tiger Hill. It is also believed that the funnel of another Russian warship was pierced. The Chinaman who arrived here today declares that during the Japanese assault on Rihlung mountain the Russian battleships fired almost incessantly to the north.

The Japanese on Taku mountain have dropped a ceaseless storm of shells on the Chinese town and many rifle bullets also fell in the place. The Chinaman adds that the fighting was very severe and that the Japanese loss was considerable. He says he left Port Arthur October 18 because he was frightened by the shells.

It is asserted that the Russian force at Port Arthur now numbers 5,000, including the militia which is not engaged in the fighting, but patrols the streets, doing provost duty and guards the arsenals, etc.

Winter clothing is very scarce at Port Arthur, shoes particularly. Many soldiers are wearing Chinese shoes and some of them are unable to obtain even these, and wrap rags about their feet. The garrison is greatly worn out by the many hours of exhausting, anxious labor and fighting. The town is full of wounded. Flour is plentiful and the slaughter of horses, mules and donkeys continues.

Japanese Get Reinforcements.

The Chinese who have reached Chefoo from Port Dalny say that Japanese reinforcements continue to arrive daily. The Japanese confirm this. A junk which reached this port today from Port Dalny was allowed to leave only on condition that she take no coolies, whom the Japanese are using in large numbers in construction of ware houses and removing the dead and wounded. The wounded are taken to the railroad and thence transported to Dalny, from which port they are shipped to Japan. The Japanese have practically completed immense ware houses between Port Dalny and Port Arthur and have therein supplies sufficient to last them until spring. Similar preparations have been made at Niuchwang and there the Japanese expect the arrival of sixty transports next month.

A junk which left Liaoti promontory yesterday was driven by a gale and arrived here tonight bringing 100 coolies who left Port Arthur because they feared injury from Japanese shells. The coolies say that on October 13 there was fierce fighting for several hours on the slopes of Rihlung mountain between comparatively small forces, during which the Japanese lost 300 killed or wounded. The coolies were unable to give details of the fighting, but apparently it was the result of one of the numerous sorties made by the Russians against the Japanese who were attempting to advance from their trenches.

very small part were newly arrived troops.

The Japanese soldiers were practically the same that fought before Liao-Yang. Chinese report that heavy works are ready for the Russians along the Hun river. The Japanese are undecided where the next stand will be made.

Details of the operations of the right and center armies are not obtainable.

JAP FORCE COMPELLED TO LAY DOWN THEIR ARMS

St. Petersburg, October 20.—A dispatch to The Boerse Gazette from Mukden, dated October 19 says that on October 18 a detachment of the Russian vanguard on the west front surrounded a Japanese battalion and compelled it to lay down its arms

MASS OF RUSSIAN PEOPLE HAVE NO THOUGHT OF PEACE.

St. Petersburg, October 20.—The Novos Vremya this morning deprecating the renewed talk of foreign intervention in the Russo-Japanese war, says:

"Such talk, if based upon the fact that now and again the voicing of an urgent desire for peace is based in Russia, must reflect the marvelous ignorance of or indifference on the part of foreigners to Russia's true internal conditions. The fact is that in Russia, as in other countries, there are several parties, two of these want peace—the extreme reactionaries, because they constitute what was known in the United States during the Spanish-American war, and in England during the Boer war, as 'peace at any price men,' and the ultra radicals, because they are in favor of a humiliating peace which would weaken the present government. But these parties are insignificant beside the great body of moderate progressives, who wish to see Russia's interior economical capabilities developed to their fullest extent and who realize that only through a decisive victory in the Far East can the wound be healed, not plastered. Russia has the opportunity for interior development on which their heart is set."

JAPANESE LOSS AT PORT ARTHUR 50,000

London, October 20.—A special to The Daily News from Chefoo says:

'According to a camp follower, who has been for some time with the Japanese army now besieging Port Arthur, and who is at present in Chefoo, having arrived from Dalny, the number of Japanese killed before the forts has reached 50,000. He says the mikado's men recklessly attacked the strongest positions, making wild rushes, the soldiers being stripped of their accoutrements and clothing. The result was that the Russian machine guns mowed them down. He also asserts that there is some talk among the officers and men that leads to the belief that the Japanese mean to try to carry the inner forts and citadels this month.

JAP PROTEST TO RUSSIA FORWARDED BY JOHN HAY.

Washington, October 20.—As indicated in the Tokio dispatches, the Japanese government, through Minister Takashira, here has entered a formal protest against the use by certain bodies of Russian troops, of Chinese clothing, the offending troops being specified in the complaint.

The state department having assumed at the beginning of the war care of Japanese interests and therefore being the natural intermediary between the belligerents when an advance is to be made by Japan, has transmitted the Japanese protest to Spencer Eddy, secretary of the American embassy at St. Petersburg and in charge in the absence of Ambassador McCormick for presentation to the Russian government.

It is understood here that the Chinese clothing was not used by the Russian troops to deceive the enemy, but simply to make good the failure of the Russian quartermaster's department to supply much needed warm clothing upon the sudden advent of cold weather in Manchuria.

Nevertheless, it is believed here that the wearing of this Chinese clothing constitutes a technical violation of the rules of war.

RUSSIANS SAY THE JAPS SHOULD NOT THROW STONES.

St. Petersburg, October 20.—The Japanese protest, through the American state department, charging the Russian troops with using Chinese clothing in violation of the supplementary articles of The Hague convention, has not yet reached the foriegn office, and nothing is known of the alleged circumstances either at the foriegn office or the war office, but the latter explains that it is possible that some of the Russian scouts in the mountains may have provided themselves with Chinese overcoats as a protection against the cold, but the idea that there has been anything in the nature of a substitution such as to constitute an infraction of The Hague convention is pronounced absurd. In this connection attention is called to the repeated reports of Russian war correspondents at the front encountering Japanese scouting parties in the mountains disguised as Chinese.

ARCHITECT HODGDON TESTIFIES

Who Has Erected Some of the Finest Buildings in Pittsburg

For Munyon's Paw-Paw and Says It Cured Him of Catarrh of the Stomach

No need to tell the people of Western Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Southeastern Ohio who C. W. Hodgdon, of Pittsburg, is, as his fame as an architect has extended far beyond the confines of that city. He is an ardent believer in Munyon's Paw-Paw Tonic. This is what he says:

"Indigestion, which finally resulted in Catarrh of the Stomach, brought on a case of Insomnia, and I was almost incapacitated for business. I was induced to try Munyon's Paw-Paw Tonic and the results were magical. Less than half a dozen bottles effected a complete cure and now I feel as well as I ever did."

It is such testimony as that which has in one brief year made Munyon's Paw-Paw Tonic and Paw-Paw Laxative Pills the most talked of remedies that the druggists handle. Those who have Dyspepsia, Indigestion or Constipation or who are nervous and cannot sleep make a serious mistake in not making an immediate trial of Munyon's Paw-Paw Tonic or Pills.

Munyon's Remedies—a separate cure for each disease and Munyon's Witch Hazel Soap and other toilet preparations, for sale everywhere.

character it was tantamount to committing the government to it. The very atmosphere of Washingon was charged with this belief. The movements of the navy, in consonance with the wishes and expectations of the conspirators, is inexplicable except upon the hypothesis of sympathy and foreknowledge. The press of the country, whose representatives at Washington visited the state department and white house daily, teemed with suggestions and prophecies of secession, recognition and a treaty with Panama, from June until November, 1904, without objection or protest or denial from the administration."

Further Proof of Complicity.

Senator Culberson then read the following letter to Dr. Albert Shaw, editor of The Review of Reviews:

"Personal—Copy—White House, Washington, D. C., October 10, 1904.—My Dear Dr. Shaw: I inclose you, purely for your own information, a copy of a letter of September 5, from our minister to Colombia. I think it might interest you to see that there was absolutely not the slightest chance of securing by treaty any more than we endeavored to secure. The alternatives were to go to Nicaragua, against advice of the great majority of competent engineers—some of the most competent saying that we had better have no canal at this time than go there—or else to take the territory by force without any attempt at getting a treaty. I cast aside the proposition, made at this time to foment the secession of Panama. Whatever other governments can do the United States cannot go into the securing, by such underhand means, the cession. Privately, I freely say to you that I would be delighted if Panama were an independent state, or if it made itself so at this moment; but for me to say so publicly would amount to an instigation of a revolt, and, therefore, I cannot say it. With great regard, sincerely yours,

"THEODORE ROOSEVELT."

"From this remarkable letter," concluded the speaker, "it seems evident that when it was written the president was advised of the contemplated secession of Panama, which culminated November 3, authoritative source, for he considered and cast aside a proposition to foment the movement. While the letter in some respects is characteristic of the frankness and courage for which the president is distinguished, it exhibits, also, his rashness and contemptuous disregard of the rights of others when his purposes are involved. Writing privately to one who is publicly fomenting secession, whose restless ambition creates a distinction between private and public instigation of conspiracy and revolution, and contributes by his name and exalted station to the dismemberment of a republic."

REFUNDING DEBT SOON COMES UP

Important Matters Will Be Passed on by Dr. Cunningham.

Governor Jelks, of Alabama, Will Probably Not Be at His Desk Within Ninety Days, and Measures Must Be Acted Upon at Once.

Montgomery, Ala., October 20.—It seems quite likely that Governor William D. Jelks, who is in New Mexico for his health, will not get back to his desk for ninety days, possibly longer, in which event it may become the duty of the acting governor, Dr. R. M. Cunningham, to take up a number of things that have been hanging fire for some months.

Important, perhaps the most important, of these is the matter of refunding the state debt, or that portion of it which comes due in 1906.

It had been the intention of Governor Jelks to finish negotiations along this line himself, and if he finds that he will be able to get home any time soon he may yet do so.

If he is delayed in the west any great length of time, however, the acting executive will take up the question and dispose of it. Several plans have been proposed, among them one looking to new bonds to be sold to citizens of the state in small amounts.

The amount of the state debt due in 1906 is $8,433,600, divided as follows: Consols, 5 per cent, issued July, 1876, $6,859,600; class B, 5 per cent, issued same date, $578,000; class C., 4 per cent, issued January 1, 1876, $996,000; on which the state pays annual interest of $410,520. The total bond issue of the state is $9,357,600 with interest of $448,680, and $185,400 barred for various reasons.

In his message to the last legislature Governor Jelks said proposals had been made looking to the issuance of a 3½ per cent bond, the buyer paying the difference between the 3½ per cent and the 4 and 5 until maturity, which would amount to about $16,000 per year. The governor said also that the bidders agreed to take all of the A, B and C bonds, $8,433,600, at 3½ per cent, pay this $16,000 a year and interest sufficient to reduce the bonds to something less than 3¼ per cent. The purchasers were to be allowed to buy up the old bonds and have new ones issued to them at the new rate of interest so far as they were able. The governor did not think this arrangement as good as the state could make, and declined the offer, since which time there has been nothing further done.

Ready for Vets.

Mobile, Ala., October 20.—(Special.)—Everything is to be in the best of shape when the Alabama Confederate Veterans come to Mobile, November 14 and 15. At a meeting of the reunion committee last night it was reported that ample funds had been raised; that three revenue cutters had been secured by the entertainment committee to take the visitors out on excursions; that the Mobile Auto Club had tendered twenty cars for the use of the sponsors; that ample accommodations had been secured; that the railroads had made a rate of one cent a mile; that decorations had been provided for and every one would have a badge; that a reviewing stand would be erected; that a battery of artillery from Fort Morgan would be ordered to the city to parade with the local military; that horses and carriages would be in abundance; that a fully organized corps of physicians with ambulances and hospital accommodations would be supplied; in fact, that everything needed to give the old soldiers a happy time had been or would be provided, and Mobile will be happy to have them.

Alabama Masons.

Montgomery, Ala., October 20.—(Special.)—The Alabama order of Ancient Free and Accepted Scottish Rite Masons will meet in fifth annual session in this city next Tuesday for three days' session. All the degrees, up to the thirty-third, will be conferred. A banquet will be served Thursday.

Pace Peonage Case.

Montgomery, Ala., October 20.—(Special.)—The appeal of John Pace, convicted of peonage in the United States court, has been regularly presented to the United States court of appeals sitting here, and will be decided later. Should the court of appeals rule against him he will have long service for Uncle Sam, as he pleaded guilty to a number of charges. It is said that there is a tacit understanding that in case the court holds against the defendant he will be pardoned because of bad health.

CATARRH OF THE STOMACH.

A Pleasant, Simple, But Safe and Effectual Cure for It.

Catarrh of the stomach has long been considered the next thing to incurable. The usual symptoms are a full or bloating sensation after eating, accompanied sometimes with sour or watery risings, a formation of gases, causing pressure on the heart and lungs and difficult breathing, headaches, fickle appetite, nervousness and a general played out, languid feeling. There is often a foul taste in the mouth, coated tongue and if the interior of the stomach could be seen it would show a slimy, inflamed condition.

The cure for this common and obstinate trouble is found in a treatment which causes the food to be readily, thoroughly digested before it has time to ferment and irritate the delicate mucous surfaces of the stomach. To secure a prompt and healthy digestion is the one necessary thing to do and when normal digestion is secured the catarrhal condition will have disappeared.

According to Dr. Harlanson, the safest and best treatment is to use after each meal a tablet, composed of Diastase, Aseptic Pepsin, a little Nux, Golden Seal and fruit acids. These tablets can now be found at all drug stores under the name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and not being a patent medicine can be used with perfect safety and assurance that healthy appetite and thorough digestion will follow their regular use after meals.

Mr. R. S. Workman, Chicago, Ills., writes: "Catarrh is a local condition resulting from a neglected cold in the head, whereby the lining membrane of the nose becomes inflamed and the poisonous discharge there from passing backward into the throat reaches the stomach, this producing catarrh of the stomach. Medical authorities prescribed for me for three years for catarrh of stomach without cure, but today I am the happiest of men after using only one box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. I cannot find appropriate words to express my good feeling. I have found flesh, appetite and sound rest from their use."

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the safest preparation as well as the simplest and most convenient remedy for any form of indigestion, Catarrah of the stomach, biliousness, sour stomach, heartburn and bloating after meals.

WATSON SPEAKS ABOUT BRYAN

At Indianapolis the Populists Discuss Bryan's Speeches.

Indianapolis, Ind., October 20.—The populist campaign in this city and Marion county was opened tonight by Hon. Thomas E. Watson, the party's candidate for president, who spoke at a mass-meeting in English opera house. The theater was well filled. Among other things Mr. Watson discussed the speeches of Mr. Bryan, made for Judge Parker, in his Indiana tour, which closed tonight, expressing the kindliest feelings toward Mr. Bryan and eulogizing what he called his services to true democracy during the last eight years, but he said he believed Mr. Bryan had now placed himself in a false position. Said he:

"The plutocratic element in the democratic party nullified the democratic victory in 1892 by using Cleveland's second administration as an opportunity for the most shameless class legislation this country has ever known. Even in 1896, when Mr. Bryan was strong enough to secure the nomination, the plutocratic element in his own party was so powerful that it closed up the avenue of success by retaining upon the ticket Arthur Sewall, of Maine. In each campaign the gold standard element in the democratic party knifed and defeated Mr. Bryan. In 1904 that element completely overthrew him at St. Louis.

"Now, here is the proposition: Mr. Bryan claims that he will help elect Parker and put that plutocratic element in power, and by so doing advance the coming of a political millennium. If they were able to overthrow him when they were out of power, how can he hope to overthrow them when he has put them in possession of such a tremendous advantage of position as the control of the government, and all of its patronage would give to them. Mr. Bryan must know that the Cleveland crowd are in control of Parker, and are no better now than they were in 1894. The appetite of the leopard may be a little keener than it was then, but he has not changed his spots."

TRUSTEES NAME SAME OFFICERS

State Sanitarium Remains Under Control of Old Officials.

Milledgeville, Ga., October 20.—(Special.)—At a meeting of the trustees of the state sanitarium today all the old officers were elected. This does not include the medical staff, which is not elected at this time. The bookkeeper was elected for only three months. It is believed this action was taken because this position will eventually be abolished and not because of any fault to be found with the incumbent. Mr. Lamar Sims, of the Baptist church, was elected chaplain, as it is customary to give this position to one of the local ministers, taking turns with the various denominations. Mr. Sims follows Mr. Brannen, of the Presbyterian church.

The Mississippi commissioner regards the world's fair as practically over and believes it unnecessary to keep the state building open any longer, as the crowds are growing rapidly smaller each day, and many of the exhibitors are preparing to pack up and depart.

RIVER LOWEST EVER KNOWN

Small Boys Can Wade Across the Chattahoochee at Eufaula.

Eufaula, Ala., October 20.—(Special.)—The drought continues in this section with no indications of rain the near future. In sections of Bullock county citizens are hauling their drinking water from springs in the woods, a half mile from their homes.

Gasoline launches on the river here drawing 12 inches of water can not proceed above the wharf and frequently encounter sand bars a short distance below.

Navigation to this point from below entirely ceased three weeks ago, an event never before known in the history of the oldest inhabitant.

Small boys can wade the river at most any point north of the city.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH CORNERSTONE IS LAID

New Presbyterian Church at Milledgeville, Ga.

MILLEDGEVILLE, GA., October 20.—(Special.)—The exercises at the laying of the corner stone of the new Presbyterian church that occurred at 3 p. m. were most impressive and largely attended.

At the request of Mayor Julius A. Horne nearly all the business houses were closed, the citizens, the college students of the Georgia Normal and Industrial, the Middle Georgia cadets, Masons, Knights of Pythias and Baldwin Blues making a splendid audience. The Rev. Dr. J. D. Plunkett, of the First Presbyterian church, of Augusta, was the speaker of the occasion and the Masons were in official charge of the exercises.

Dr. Plunkett's remarks were most appropriate.

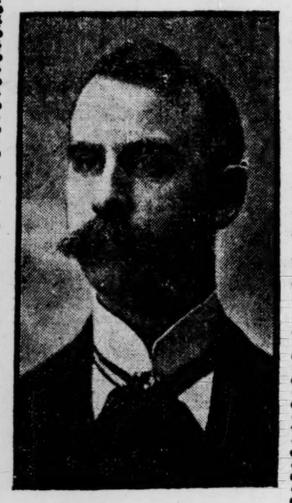
Dr. T. M. Hall, as worshipful master of the Masons, conducted the exercises of that order.

The church is located on the northwest corner of the old capitol square and will always be one of the most prominent buildings in the city, as it is very near the business center.

The Presbyterian congregation of this city has long been in need of a larger building. The matter was discussed for some time and a partial effort made to obtain subscriptions, but the solid lump contribution of $5,000 on the part of George C. Smith last spring was the fixture that insured the immediate building of the church.

On account of the constantly increasing attendance of the Georgia Normal and Industrial and the Middle Georgia colleges all the churches of this city for at least nine months of the year are more or less crowded. There has been no church edifice here adequate for the religious exercises of commencements.

The Presbyterians hope in this new church to supply for some time to come a building that will meet the necessities of such occasions as well as a place that will accommodate the church going people of all the denominations at union services. This church is modern in every particular and by throwing the Sunday school rooms and main auditorium together it is expected to accommodate 700 people.



REV. D. W. BRANNEN, Pastor of Milledgeville Presbyterian Church for the Past Twelve Years.

The corner stone of the church has an interesting history. It is a huge block of sandstone weighing 1,800 pounds and is from a quarry near Haddingtonshire, Scotland. John Knox in Scotland in the sixteenth century was most instrumental in founding the Presbyterian church. He had been largely influenced by the purchasing of Wishart. In 1543, by order of Archbishop Beaton, Wishart was burned at St. Andrews, the quarry from which this stone was obtained was near the place where Wishart was burned.

The idea of having this interesting history associated with this new Presbyterian church originated and was carried out by J. W. McMillan, of this city, who has the contract to build the church and the stone is a contribution from Mr. McMillan.

LESE MAJESTE FOR UNIFORMS

Keep American Flag and Soldiers Out of Cartoons, Says Funston.

Chicago, October 20.—The enactment of a federal law to prevent the desecrating of the American flag and the caricaturing the uniform of the soldier has been advocated by Brigadier General Frederick Funston at a banquet of the Illinois Society, Sons of American Revolution, at the Hamilton Club.

"The patriotism I believe in is to fight corruption at the primaries and the polls," he said. "There is no better way of emulating the founders of the republic."

The banquet was in commemoration of the surrender of Cornwallis at Yorktown.

Such Will Be Established in North State.

Raleigh, N. C., October 20.—(Special.)—C. R. Wakelamb, the principal of the Fayetteville academy, intends to establish a naval training school on the coast of this state. There is one other such private school in the country, this being in the west, on one of the large rivers. It is said the government will equip such a school with arms, boats and an officer to give the necesary instruction.

RESPESS

MUST STAY SINGLE FOR WHOLE YEAR

Compromise Adopted on Remarriage Question.

Present Canon Allowed To Stand, Except That Innocent Party Must Wait One Year and Then Present Satisfactory Proof.

Boston, October 20.—By an overwhelming majority a compromise canon on the remarriage of divorced persons was adopted by the house of deputies of the Episcopal general convention today, and if it is concurred in by the house of bishops, the most important issue that has come before the present convention will be disposed of for at least three years. The compromise measure, like the old law, permits the remarriage of the innocent person in a divorce for the cause of infidelity, but further provides that no remarriage shall be allowed within one year after a decree has been issued by a civil court. Satisfactory proof of the innocence of the applicant for remarriage must be furnished in the shape of court records, and after the consent of the bishop is obtained, a clergyman may refuse to perform such a ceremony without subjecting himself to censure or discipline.

In the opinion of Francis A. Lewis, of Philadelphia, a member of the committee on canons, who favored no remarriage of any divorced persons, but who accepted the compromise, the canon today adopted is so strict that if indorsed by the bishops, it will practically put the church, as he expressed it, "out of the divorce business."

The house of bishops today nominated Rev. Henry D. Aves, of Houston, Tex., for missionary bishop of Mexico, to have supervision of English speaking congregations in that country.

WOODWARD IS YOUNG INVENTOR

Former Atlanta Boy Has Penchant for Making Practical Experiments.

Constitution Bureau, 467 Second Street, Macon, Ga., October 20.—(Special.)—Lenoir Erwin Woodward, the Macon boy who recently invented an electrical device, which is primarily a shield for electric switches, is one of those American youths with the kind of energy that does things by experiment rather than by theory. He never theorizes except in a practical way. He grasps at the tangible, the concrete, and for this reason he will no doubt make a success in electrical work.

Young Woodward never became very deeply interested in his books at school. Mathematics held his attention to that extent to which he could prove by actual experiment the truth of the assertions made. For this reason his mother took him away from the public schools before he completed his common school education and allowed him to follow the work his talent chose. For ten years he has lived in Macon, coming here from Atlanta when about six years old. Though only a boy, he has worked with the electrical houses of this city and now holds a position with the Macon Gaslight and Water Company.

But that which has more recently directed attention to young Woodward is his invention of an electrical device, the proof of which has been forwarded to Washington for a patent. Though the device to be patented is simple enough in design, it is always the originality of an idea which brings recognition. The invention is a simple shield to protect electrical switches from mechanical injury, to prevent the burning out of fuse and to prevent shocks and injury to persons handling switches. It is not in the least complex, but its value may be seen at a glance, especially by those constantly brought in contact with electric switches. If it is patented and put to a practical test by common usage, the importance of the boy's invention will be recognized. Tariff associations will probably enforce its use as a protection against the damage frequently caused by uncovered switches, and young Woodward will profit to a certain extent by its use wherever electricity goes.

Atterbury System

Gentlemen's Clothes

IF you ask us why the great manufacturers of clothing have not produced hand-tailored clothing heretofore, and thus satisfied the popular demand, we will say to you:

Because the cost of production by machinery is so much less, the output and profits so much greater, that these manufacturers could not resist them.

Why do we make hand-tailored clothing, then? Because the reaction has set in. The trend of the times is back to the custom tailor.

We realized that if we were to apply the merchant tailor's methods on an enlarged scale and keep the prices down to a point within the reach of the average man, we would reap the benefit of more patronage than has ever been vouchsafed one house in the history of this country.

Atterbury Clothes are the clothes of the Modern Gentleman. Their popularity will be measured by the rapidity with which the public becomes familiar with them.

FIGHT MALARIA IS PROGRAMME

Tuberculosis Commission in Macon Leads to Discussion.

Dr. Hilsman Declares Malaria Results from Germ, and Not Bad Air—Want Malaria Commission To Be Established.

By Will A. Branan.

Constitution Bureau, 467 Second Street, Macon, Ga., October 20.—(Special.)—In connection with the meeting of the tuberculosis commission in Macon yesterday there is some discussion throughout the city as the result of the idea suggested by Dr. Hilsman, of Albany, of establishing a malaria commission. Dr. Hilsman thinks as much good can be accomplished by fighting malaria as by joining arms against the tuberculosis germ.

In discussing the question of a malaria commission, Dr. Hilsman stated that malaria is caused by a germ and not by bad air, as was once commonly thought. He says the germ of malaria is conveyed on the body of a certain genus of the mosquisto, the circulation of the germ being brought about by a hyperdermical injection of the insect. He also gives an illustration to show that the disease of malaria is transmitted not only by mosquitoes, but that the germ floats through the air. In view of the good which the tuberculosis commission is expected to accomplish the idea which Dr. Hilsman suggests in regard to a malaria commission is attracting some attention.

ANSWERED ALL QUESTIONS PUT

Chicago, October 20.—Congressman W. Bourke Cockran, of New York, addressed an immense audience in the Auditorium here tonight, the meeting being held under the auspices of the Young Men's Democratic Club of Cook county. The Auditorium was crowded to its capacity, and many people were unable to gain admittance.

Mr. Cockran confined his address, which lasted for nearly two hours and was generously applauded, to a discussion of the tariff question, as applied to industrial conditions. He was frequently met with interruptions from the audience, all of which he answered with readiness and good nature.

A decided feature of the meeting occurred while Mr. Cockran was denouncing the protective tariff policy of the republican party as inevitably tending to a rise in the price of commodities and a fall in wages. A man in one of the galleries shouted: "Didn't you support McKinley?" Considerable cheering followed this question.

Mr. Cockran waited until the applause subsided, paused for another moment and then said:

"I supported McKinley in 1896 because on another public question he took such a position that it was necessary for me to support him, in spite of his views on the tariff. But after that contest was decided, Mr. McKinley and his associates sought to betray the gold standard by sending a commission to Europe to establish bimetallism, because they thought there was as much profit in treason as there was in loyalty."

Tremendous applause followed Mr. Cockran's retort. The speaker further charged that the gold standard was not firmly established until the British cabinet had refused to accede to the proposals of the bimetallic commission to open the mints of India to the coinage of silver.

THEATERS.

"The Sultan of Sulu," which will be seen at the Grand tonight and Saturday matinee and night, is from the pen of George Ade, of "Fables in Slang" fame, and the music has been provided by Alfred G. R. Wathall. It comes to this city heralded as a huge success, having made phenomenal runs in New York and Chicago. The plot is not so improbable as that on which the general run of musical comedies are based. It differs from them in the possession of a distinct subject of contemporaneous interest which is humorously treated in Mr. Ade's brilliantly satirical and quaintly original style.

The theme is suggested by the American occupation of Sulu and the "benevolent assimilation" of its polygamous ruler, who early learns that "the 'constitution and the cocktail' follow the flag."

Prominent in the cast are Thomas Whiffen, George O'Donnell, Walter A. Lawrence, Fred Frear, Robert W. Parkin, Willard Curtice, James L. McGee, William Hethington, John J. Fogarty, John T. O'Day, Maude Williams, Flo Irwin, Nellie V. Nichols, Helen Tomlinson, Bernice Hart, Beryl Gomez, Maude Earle, Harriet Kendall, Julia Gloss, Hazel Clayton, Octavia Broske, Millie Murray, Mattie Rivenburg and Effie Hasty.

"Busy Izzy" stood the test gloriously yesterday. The tuneful musical comedy of which George Sidney is one of fifty-three members, played to the largest gathering that has as yet attended a Thursday matinee at the Bijou, and last night standing room to the limit was the best late comers could draw.

The attraction is scheduled for three more appearances at the popular play house, and it is likely that the capacity of the house will be tested at each performance.

That George Sidney has won a strong position in the line of Atlanta favorites is being evidenced at every performance. He is original and the fact htat he sets the pace makes the show the hit it is. In all "Busy Izzy" is surely the sort of entertainment that Atlanta cares for and the fact is being evidenced at each performance.

That charming little actress and vocalist, Bettina Gerard, and the favorite light comedian, Max Figman, will be seen at the Grand on Monday afternon and evening in the successful semi-musical comedy, "The Marriage of Kitty," a most emphatic success in New York last season. Miss Gerard will be remembered as the prima donna soprano of many of the big comic opera productions which have achieved success during the past ten seasons, and Mr. Figman from his connection as leading man with some of the prominent New York successes of recent date.

"Standing room only" will probably be the order of things at the Bijou next week, when "A Hot Old Time" will be given.

This happy mixture of fun and jollity will always find a welcome with local theatergoers. It is the liveliest of musical comedies. In equipping the company which is to present this comedy young and pretty show girls have been selected. A splendid scenic production has been provided.

There is a special feature in Mlle Ani, the accompolished aerial artist. "A Hot Old Time" should receive the patronage that has been accorded it all over the circuit, where excellent reports promise a good entertainment.

Proposition to Elks.

Macon, Ga., October 20.—(Special.)—Another proposition has been submitted to a committee of the Elks by Mr. DeGive, the principal owner of the new theater going up in Macon. Special Meeting of Camp.

Macon, Ga., October 20.—(Special.)—There will be a special meeting of the R. A. As there are several tellers of good war stories in the camp it is thought the occasion will be made an enjoyable one.

DIRECTORS' ACT IS CHALLENGED

Tennessee Presbyterian Synod Debates Removal Question.

"If Body Has No Authority To Act in University Removal Matter, How Could It Have Appointed Directors?"

Knoxville, Tenn., October 20.—(Special.) The Tennessee synod of the southern Presbyterian church, after a debate extending almost all day, this afternoon adopted a resolution challenging the authority of the board of directors of the Southwestern Presbyterian university, at Clarksville, Tenn., to be a self-perpetuating body, and also denying that the directors have full authority in controlling the university.

This is, in effect, a challenge of the directors' action in enjoining the synods from taking action in regard to the removal of the university from Clarksville to Atlanta.

It was brought out this afternoon that the directors of the university claim to have an invested right, by the institution's charter, granted under the laws of Tennessee, to control the institution absolutely, and that the synod has no legal right to act in the matter of the proposed removal from Clarksville to Atlanta.

The sentiment of the majority of the members of the Tennesse synod was expressed by Professor A. W. Webb, of Belle-Buckle, in a vigorous speech, when he declared: "The directors got their power from the synods, being created by the synods, and if their power of creation, as granted by the synods, was defective, moreover is the power defective which the directors now have.

"In other words, we have createed the board of directors who claim we have no power to take any action, and now if we have no power to take action, what power did we have to create the university directorate?"

DAVID B. HILL SPEAKS IN OHIO

Large Crowd Heard Him at Mansfield Last Night.

Mansfield, Ohio, October 20.—Former Senator David B. Hill, of New York, was the principal speaker at a largely attended democratic meeting here tonight. A parade and fireworks preceded the indoor programme. Mr. Hill spoke for an hour and a half, and in the course of his speech said that the democratic party had survived all other political parties. The spectacle of a president of the United States conducting his own campaign, through a former private secretary, was unparalleled, he said. The president selected as secretary of the department of commerce and labor a man not identified with either, and made him chairman of the national campaign, in which position he was said to be using information obtained in his official capacity as secretary of the department of commerce and labor. The platform adopted at St. Louis was said to be one on which all democrats could stand—Cleveland in the east was supporting it, and Bryan in the west.

EFFECTIVE WORK BY GOSPEL UNION

Remarkable Meetings Are Now in Progress in Atlanta.

Ministers Are Conducting Daily Services in Various Portions of the City, and the Leaders Declare They Are Pleased with the Results.

The Gospel Union campaign passed its biggest day yesterday as to attendance on services and practical results accruing from the many meetings.

All the evangelists now in the city, including Drs. Chapman, Biederwolf, Smith, Walton, Toy and Schaeffer, with their various musical assistants, are working most vigorously both day and night.

Dr. Chapman says: "We are encouraged greatly—yes, more than encouraged—we are jubilant. The Lord is in our midst right now and the power of the Holy Ghost is performing miracles. We are thankful to God for His goodness."

The Services Today.

Dr. Chapman at First Baptist, 12 to 1 p. m. At First Presbyterian at 3:30 p. m. At First Methodist at 7:30 p. m.

Dr. Biederwolf at Trinity Methodist at 3:30 p. m. At Second Baptist at 7:30 p. m.

Dr. Toy at West End Baptist church, twice daily.

Dr. Walton in South Atlanta with services in afternoon and at night.

Dr. Schaeffer, children's service at Central Presbyterian at 4:30 p. m.

Dr. Arthur J. Smith in Wallace Presbyterian at 3:30 p. m. and Walker Street Methodist at 7:30 p. m.

Services Well Attended.

The services by Dr. J. Wilbur Chapman yesterday were well attended and produced the most favorable impression upon the crowds that gathered to hear him. His sermons are simple in style and his incisive logic cut at once to the very core of his subject. He brings with him the impression of consecrated scholarship, the candor of a child and the winsome grace of an earnest, honest heart.

At the noon meeting at First Baptist church Dr. Chapman led the services. The first floor of the church was crowded with as intensely interested a congregation as one ever sees. The songs had a ring of deep earnestness in them and every part of the service was impressive.

Fred Butler gave a baritone solo "O, Wash Me Thou," that was up to the best of his magnificent voice. Mr. Butler's singing impresses one as a musical prayer, and his outreaching sympathy in tone moves upon the people. Gospel songs, in the literal meaning, would best characterize his efforts.

Dr. Chapman used as a text James iv,-3: "Ye ask and receive not because." The sudden termination of his quotation from the apostle brother of our Lord was very effective, and placed his hearers upon the qui vive. Doubtless a majority of the hundreds present took the first opportunity to read the rest of the verse if for nothing more than curiosity.

His subject was "Effective Prayer," and it was vividly presented. He said in substance:

"When we preach we move men, when we pray we move God. We need to pray if we are to be like our Savior in any sense. His was a life of prayer. He began the morning with prayer, the noontide found Him praying and the evening hardly closed the day of sweet communion with His Father. He prayed when His disciples were with Him, and when He was alone. He prayed in Gethsemane and even on Calvary His prayer for His enemies and murderers still sounds before man as the sweetest evidence of God's unfailing mercies.

"The apostle Paul prayed, it was His atmosphere. He was not like some Christians who are on the mountain top today and in the valley the next. He abided in the Presence daily, no change of circumstance could move his great soul. No prison or dungeon was so dark, no chains were so heavy, no unjust trial was so outrageous, but that Paul rejoiced always in the Lord."

Dr. Chapman used many beautifully simple illustrations and incidents duly verified to him, by personal experience or trustworthy report, of availing prayer on behalf of others.

He bade all men complete the text "because—," and yet James finishes it "Ye ask amiss." God answers prayer in three ways by "yes," "no," and neither of these. Each one is an answer, given in wisdom and in love, to man who presents his petitions. Many responded to the invitation for prayers and appeared to gladly accept the offers.

The Afternoon Meeting.

The aftereoon meeting at Central Presbyterian church was largely attended, the church being crowded. Dr. Chapman's subject was "The Second Mile." Text, Matthew v, 41: "And whosoever shall compel thee to go a mile, go with him twain."

Dr. Chapman unveiled his subject shown in the peculiar title he used. It became clear to his hearers as he recited the law of the Judean code. A stranger in the land could compel a resident there to go with him a mile to show him his way. The Savior's injunction to the Christian is to do more than the law's requirements, to double these in duty, to measure nothing by a strict mile, not even that second mile you go with the stranger. The trouble with the Mosaic law was and had been the strictness of the quibbling over the jot and tittle of the law. The first mile is the law, the second mile is of grace.

The Christian was exhorted to win souls to the Master by showing people the way, not just a little while, but to the end of danger, to safety, to the close of the second mile. Dr. Chapman gave very plain and specific directions and suggestions to those present for engaging in personal work in soul saving. These seemed to cheer those whose hearts cherish the new purpose to place themselves in God's hands to be used of Him in bringing people to salvation.

At the First Methodist.

At First Methodist last night the house was packed, fully fifteen hundred people were present and gave Dr. Chapman the most intense attention.

The Scripture lesson was that of the Shunamite' son, II Kings, fourth chapter, the text being the twenty-sixth verse, "Is it well with thee? Is it well with thy husband? Is it well with the child? and she said 'It is well.'"

He said in part: "This message is not to be descriptive of the Old Testament town of Shunam, great as it was. The home of the old couple that was childless, and small, was enlarged by the woman's wish, to include the 'prophet's chamber,' and by a miracle of God there was sent a son to rejoice this Shunamite mother. The story of the boy's sickness and death is especially fresh in the minds of the young people, and Sunday school teachers because it was the subject of last Sunday's lesson in the international series.

"Gehazi, the servant of Elisha, sent with the rod of the prophet to lay upon the face of the dead boy, was ordered not to salute any one. He was not to waste time in the vain questioning and repetition of useless greetings. We who have the gospel message should arise and haste on our way to take the Bible to our dead friends, dead in sin and entirely so. We have no time to salute and 'fritter away opportunity.

"The text is inclusive. 'Is it well with thee?' That is personal salvation. 'Is it well with thy husband?' That takes in the friend, the dear, close friend. 'Is it well with thy child?' This brings it into your home. Every man needs to come to God, every one must come, because God is ready, because Christ is ready who made the atonement that effected the reconciliation, who sent the message 'Whosoever will let him come,' and because your friends are ready. God's word has said they who do not believe in Christ are lost, lost, lost!"

Dr. Chapman's invitation to all who were interested, who were burdened because it is not well, with themselves, or with friends, or loved ones, was largely accepted. Fully one-third of the large congregation arose promptly and went to the chapel for the after service, where there was a great meeting.

Fred Butler's solo, "The Lost Chord," was well received. The great chorus choir even improves in the quality of its splendid music.

Meetings will be held today at the same hours and places, noon, afternoon and night.

At the Second Baptist.

Those who attended the service at the Second Baptist church last night went away feeling impressed with the responsibility upon them for trying to bring men to Christ.

The chorus was in its place on time. Mr. Maxwell led in several familiar hymns and sung several new ones. Mr. Biederwolf and Mr. Maxwell both believe in the power of song in revival services and so try to impress the people with the value of song.

Mr. Biederwolf took for his text a part of the fourth verse of Psalm 142, from which he spoke in part as follows:

"It is sad to be alone and have no one to care for you. Souls are waiting for our sympathy. David was in hiding sad and alone at the time this text was written. There springs from this text the truth that men are anxious to be solicitous about their souls. People want us to care. They are waiting for us to speak to them. People want to be saved. They are longing for a word from us.

"Let us notice three reasons why we do not manifest some concern.

"We are altogether too busy and concerned about other things. We are too much wrapped in material things. We allow the spiritual to become too unreal. We are materialists in practice if not in philosophy. The crane did not want to go to heaven because there were no snails there. We forget about the world to come. Forget our souls and other peoples' souls also.

"2. As Christians we do not realize the responsibility God has put upon us. We are God's watchmen. To be saved is not the end of our duty. 'Saved to save' is the purpose of our salvation. God will call us to account for what we have been doing here. We must not leave men alone. There are some whom nobody can influence but you, and yet you do not speak to them.

"3. We have not clear views about the condition of lost souls. We feel somehow it will be all right in the hereafter."

There were about twenty-five who manifested a desire to be saved. All were very deeply impressed with Dr. Biederwolf's sermon. The closing was quiet. But the power of the Spirit was felt and men were inquiring the way of salvation.

FOREPAUGH-SELLS CIRCUS PLEASES IMMENSE THRONG

MORE immense than ever, better than it has ever been in the past, the Adam Forepaugh and Sells Bros. circus entertained and delighted nearly twenty thousand people in Atlanta yesterday afternoon and last night.

Never did the Sells Bros., even in the days of the infancy of their show work, present an inferior attraction. From the initial performance the four brothers whose names have since become household words the world over would present nothing but the best. If there was anything new, anything other show people could not get or had not the enterprise and sagacity to secure it was a certainty that the Sells brothers would reach out for it. Price had no effect or bearing. If it was calculated to please the people it was sure to be given under the canvas managed and manipulated by them. For more than a quarter of a century Sells Bros. have been moving the country over giving performances always productive of satisfaction among those who patronized them. It was the Sells Bros. who had built for them the largest canvas known up to that time. And it was needed, because the programme, the people and the animals they carried demanded it, to say nothing of the generous outpouring of the people wherever and whenever their tent was spread.

And when the combination was made with that veteran showman, Adam Forepaugh, the immensity of the gathering was practically doubled, the very best of every feature being retained by the new organization.

Knowing as the people of Atlanta do that there would be nothing old, nothing lacking interest it was to be presumed that the great tent would be packed while standing in Atlanta. Fifteen thousand people is the seating capacity of the canopy, and during the afternoon there was not a vacant seat, while many persons made themselves easy upon the ground. Before the street parade had finished messengers were sent into the city to stop the sale of tickets down town, the managers realizing that the sales had then been sufficient to test the capacity of the canvas. At night the crowd was almost as large, and, like the one of the afternoon, it was enthusiastic all the way through the programme.

The immensity of the shows was apparent through the street parade, which was one of the most pleasing seen here in years. Though the season is nearing its end, everything looked bright and new. The paints were yet bright, the harness neat and clean, while every four-footed creature in the line was in excellent shape, fat, smooth and full of life. The zoological department was even better than has been shown before, the herd of elephants one of the most numerous in the country, presenting some of the largest members of that family in this country.

Without the programme which was, as had been said, decidedly pleasing, there was enough in the great gathering to have interested or entertained any one. An afternoon could have been profitably passed in studying what the managers have been years gathering at a cost that would appal the layman.

Then, too, the programme presented in the three rings, to say nothing of the many swings, bars and other appliances for aerial work and the stages would have been sufficient to have entertained one had there been none of the other features. It required two hours' time to work out the details, and there was not an uninteresting minute from the start to the finish. Well-trained horses, educated elephants, fearless riders, both ladies and gentlemen, men and women swaying, leaping and swinging through the air as though there were no danger in the work they were executing, kept the spectators up to the highest pitch. The gymnasts, and there were schools of them of all ages and both sexes, were better than any Atlanta has ever seen. The zouave drill was a feature which aroused the gathering to its fullest intensity. The work of these red-clad gun handlers is said to be the best in the country.

Looping the loop by Diavolo was thrilling enough for any one and the manner in which it was done thrilled his entire string of spectators, while the chasm vaulting cyclist in his leap through the air held the crowd speechless from the second his wheel began its revolutions at the top of the incline until it made the leap through the space some 35 feet high and 50 feet long. It was a guess whether or not he would land on the rubber around the wheel or be dashed against the ground with force sufficient to have made him useless to a circus or to himself again.

There was not a number of the long, varied programme that was not considered better than the good one that went before it, and when the vast crowd filed out there was not one who came away in the slightest displeased with what he had seen and heard.

ANOTHER COMES TO STAND TRIAL

Alleged Lyncher Will Reach Columbia Today, it is Said.

Message Reached Governor Heyward Yesterday to That Effect from L. A. Martin—Case Is That of Eutawville Affair in Carolina.

Columbia, S. C., October 20.—(Special.)—Another of the men indicted on the charge of lynching at Eutawville will arrive in Columbia tomorrow, according to a telegram received by the governor today.

The message was from L. A. Martin, who is a brother of Ben Martin, now in the penitentiary, and simply stated that he would be here tomorrow.

The telegram indicated that Martin was coming of his own accord. Two attorneys arrived today and conferred with the men under arrest at the penitentiary.

It is not known whether or not they will apply for bail.

WATER SOURCES ARE DRYING UP

Central Trains May Be Affected by the Prevailing Drouth.

Covington, Ga., October 20.—(Special.)—On account of low water in Yellow river at Porterdale, the big plant of the Bibb Manufacturing Company at that place has been forced to run on short time. Notwithstnding that the entire flow of water is stopped in the dam during the night, it is not possible to accumulate a sufficient supply to keep the mill running on full time during the day. The operation of the Covington mill, which is run by steam power, has not been affected by the dry weather.

The sources from which the water tanks of the Central of Georgia railway are supplied at this point and at Machen, it is stated, are gradually giving out, and unless the present weather conditions are relieved shortly it is altogether probable that the running of trains on this division of the Central may be seriously affected.

Although there is considerable complaint about pastures drying up and all late vegetation being cut off, the ginners of this section are perhaps the greatest sufferers from the effect of the long drought.

The farmer s generally are not complaining of the drought, owing to the ideal condition afforded for gathering the crops.

PHILIPPINES THE SUBJECT

Discussed at the Mohonk Indian Conference.

Lake Mohonk, N. Y., October 20.—The morning session of the Mohonk Indian conference was devoted to the consideration of problems in the Philippines. Dr. Fred W. Atkinson, of the Brooklyn Polytechnic institute, who organized the American public school system, was the first speaker today.

Dr. Atkinson was followed by W. Leon Pepperman, of the bureau of insular affairs of the war department.

Brigadier General G. A. Goodale followed Mr. Pepperman.

General Goodale, who was in command of a regiment stationed at Jolo for a year at the beginning of the American occupation of the Philippines, said he believed that the government of the Moros will prove to be one of the most difficult problems we have to fear in the Philippines, owing partly to their Mohammedan faith and certain practices going with and sanctioned by that form of religion, such as polygamy.

Mr. G. Brumbaugh, first commissioner of education in Porto Rico, then addressed the conference. Dr. Samuel McCueno Lindsay, who succeeded Dr. Brumbaugh, in Porto Rico, followed. The closing address was given by Jacob H Hollander.

Negro Women Killed Man.

Raleigh, N. C., October 20.—(Special.) The last arrivals at the state penitentiary are four negro women, who are to serve five years each for an unusual crime. They waylaid and attacked a white man with knives, cutting him in over fifty places.

INDIANA IS SAFE, SAYS W. J. BRYAN

Last Address in State Made at New Albany Last Night.

Crossed River Afterwards and Spoke to Large Crowd of Kentckians, Who Waited Until 10 O'Clock To Hear the Nebraskan.

Louisville, Ky., October 20.—"The Indiana democrats seem to be ready to vote now," said William J. Bryan, when he concluded his tour of that state at New Albany tonight. The closing day of the tour through Indiana was regarded by Mr. Bryan and his party as the most successful of all in respect to the size or enthusiasm of the audiences and the auguries of success furnished in the reports of campaign workers.

"I firmly believe that Indiana will return a plurality for Parker and Davis," said Mr. Bryan, in opening his speech at New Albany. "The observations made during the trip which I have just finished reveal a most encouraging state of affairs. There is little or no trace of disaffection among the silver democrats and there is no reason for the gold democrats to feel dissatisfied. The evidences of interest and enthusiasm among the democrats are so plentiful that it seems that the only apparent hope for republican success would appear to lie in their polling the entire doubtful vote of the state."

Mr. Bryan's prophecy was received with tremendous cheers by a crowd which completely filled Market House square in New Albany, the number running far into the thousands.

Turning to the issues of the campaign the speaker made an eloquent appeal for the election of United States senators by popular vote. Such a reform, the speaker contended, would result in the senators representing the people instead of special privileges as so many of them now seem to do.

Turning his attention to the national democratic ticket, Mr. Bryan declared emphatically that a vote for Parker and Davis was a vote against imperialism, militarism and their attendant evils, which are rapidly tightening their hold on the nation. The ousting from power of men who are ruthlessly trampling on the ideals of the republican government would, of itself, constitute a sufficient reason for voters to support the democratic ticket, although there are many other reasons sufficiently weighty to demand such a course.

Addresses Kentuckians.

Immediately on concluding his New Albany speech, Mr. Bryan made a dash into Kentucky, addressing a great throng which filled Phoenix Hill garden. Although the speaker did not arrive until nearly 10 o'clock the crowd waited patiently for him and manifested great interest in his speech, which was, in the main, directed against the trusts and imperialism.

"A vote for Parker and Davis," said Mr. Bryan, "is a long step toward the abolition of special privileges granted to the few at the expense of the many, a condition of affairs which has, in no small part, been brought about by the republican party's tariff system."

DAVIS IS TO WELCOME BRYAN.

Nebraskan Will Be in West Virginia Today.

Parkersburg, W. Va., October 20.—Henry G. Davis, democratic candidate for vice president, will welcome W J Bryan to West Virginia tomorrow afternoon. Mr. Bryan will speak here, and Mr. Davis, who has completed a canvass of his own state, will attend the meeting. Mr. Bryan speaks here at 3 o'clock; at Huntington in the evening and at Charleston Saturday night.

Democratic state leaders conferred with Mr. Davis today relative to state election machinery. It was decided to organize vigilance committees to watch the polls in certain parts of the state.

No Rain in Two Months.

Elberton, Ga., October 20.—(Special.)—The drouth in this section continues with little prospect of breaking. It has been nearly two months since rain fell. The farmers estimate that it has cut the crop of cotton off considerably, but has given them the finest season for gathering that they have enjoyed in years. Most of the farmers are holding back their crops from the market, yet the price paid here is just a few points below the New York market.

Two Losses by Fire.

Elberton, Ga., October 20.—(Special.)—Yesterday afternoon a tenant house of T. O. Tabor, valued at about $400, was destroyed, but fully insured. Last night about midnight the barn and contents of D. M. Watson, on Oliver street, were destroyed. Loss about $500.

The peasant woman of Switzerland, striding up the snowy Alps, heavily burdened, and with mind bent on home only; but yet without effort knitting stockings for her children as she pushes on through ice is a fine exhibition of patience and thrift.

It is only equalled by thousands of Americans who by industry and sustained dint of self-denial are prudently laying aside a fraction of their present earnings to remain policyholders in the Equitable Life, in order that their own and their families' future may be protected against the grind of gaunt poverty.

EDWARD TOASTS AMERICAN NAVY

London, October 20.—"The American navy: May its glory never grow less!" were the words in which King Edward toasted his naval guests at the luncheon at Buckingham palace today. Ambassador Choate first presented Rear Admiral Jewell, commanding the European squadron of the north Atlantic fleet, and his staff, Captain Colby, of the cruiser Olympia, and Lieutenants William C. Watts and Charles T. Jewell, aides of the admiral, who were accompanied by secretary White and Captain Charles H. Stockton, the naval attache of the American embassy. Then with an informal, "Well, let's have lunch," the king, wearing an admiral's uniform, led the way to the dining room, where eighteen persons sat down, mostly members of the household, with Captain Prince Louis of Battenberg, director of naval intelligence, Admiral Lord Walter Kerr, first sea lord of the admiralty, and Sir Thomas Lipton.

Ambassador Choate was on the king's right and Admiral Jewell on his left. The king, as usual with American guests, demanded their latest stories and chatted most informally until near the end of the luncheon, when he rose and proposed the health of President Roosevelt, the American navy and the officers of the visiting squadron. No formal reply was made, but Admiral Jewell told King Edward how much he appreciated the compliment. The king chatted with each member of the party, showed them the palace pictures and ended the most cordial informal party by saying how he was always pleased to see American war vessels in England.

GOOD ORDER ON "CIRCUS DAY"

Police and Street Car Company Handled Big Crowd Without an Accident.

"Circus day" passed without an accident to mar the occasion. There was very little drunkenness, and no disorder. Although there was an immense crowd on the streets all day yesterday, and the city was filled with strangers, everything passed off quietly.

Too much praise cannot be given to Chief Ball, his officers and his men for the good order that was kept. The members of the force served extra time, and did it willingly and cheerfully.

The street car company handled the crowds without a hitch or an accident of any kind.

Altogether, the day was one for which the pleasure seeking crowds have every reason to feel thankful. The little folks and the big folks, too, saw a great show, and it did it without witnessing any of the disorder which sometimes accompany such occasions.

Plant Crippled by Drought.

Moultrie, Ga., October 20.—(Special.)—The draught that has continued in this county xfor over ten weeks has become very depressing. Nearly all the fall crops are about ruined and cane everywhere is dying as are also trees. Hogs and cattle suffer severely and many of them are dying. There are practically no gins or saw mills running full time. Many are only running half the time and some shut down altogether because of insufficient water supply. It is conceded to be the most severe drought since 1883.

MARRIAGE OFFER CAUSED MOST MIRACULOUS CURE

WILMINGTON, N. C., October 20.—(Special.)—A most remarkable case of matrimony occurred near Danville last week. Miss Peni Durham, who had been bedridden for about fifteen years, and for the greater part of the time was unable to walk on account of her peculiar affliction, got up Sunday for the first time in many years and walked to the altar to be married to Mr. William Harper. Mr. Harper was a widower, having married a sister of Miss Durham. He felt a deep interest in his sister in law, and some time ago told her that if she would get up and walk that he would marry her. She soon made the effort and was able to take the first step she had taken in years. Harper was as good as his word, and as soon as her strength was sufficient he married her. The bride is about thirty-five and the groom ten years her senior. The skill of all the physicians in the whole country thereabouts was exhausted in the effort to bring a cure of the young woman, but there was no response.

ATLANTA, GA., October 21, 1904.

The Baltic fleet has sailed. Wonder how far.

The evacuation of Mukden will come stubbornly, but it will come.

The state of Georgia has built railroads in the past; it can build others for an ocean outlet.

President Roosevelt insists that he will do in the future what he has done in the past, only more so.

Three Mudds are running for high office in Maryland. This is slinging a deal of Mudd, if not the campaign variety.

The mugwump organs do worse than "damn with faint praise;" they damn with lugubrious prophesis of defeat.

Italy is about to have a general election. It is stated that 221,000 troops will "preserve order" at the polls. Just like reconstruction times in Italy.

The war specialists who fight masterly battles on paper are pointing out the mistakes of Kuropatkin. It is the beginning of the end of Kuropatkin.

Wood alcohol in mean whisky is killing off so many Bowery rounders in New York that the political managers fear a shortage of repeaters on election day.

Feudist Feltner, of Breathitt county, Kentucky, was captured the other day, notwithstanding he had five large caliber revolvers conveniently scattered over his person.

It is not wild conjecture to declare that Atlanta would today have close to 200,000 inhabitants were it not for the discrimination in freight rates under which her shippers have ever labored.

It is said John D. Rockefeller did not begin to accumulate money until after he was 35 years of age. Perhaps this may explain why a little fraction of the earth is still in other hands than his.

Atlanta will preserve, with singleness of purpose and consertion of action, in her fight for freight rate justice, and Atlanta is but an urban factor in the fight of the whole state for the same end.

The railroads have driven the shippers away from Atlanta by the score within the past score of years. It is a case of killing the goose that lays the golden egg so far as business for the railroads is concerned.

All previous records of desperate courage in war have been broken by the Russians and Japanese. Indeed, the present war contains so many Balaklavs that they may be too commonplace for historical immortality.

Officers in the Japanese army are said to get the same rations as the private soldiers. The lack of class distinction in this and other notable regards has doubtless done much to give the Japanese army its magnificent morale.

A Russian dispatch from Mukden says: "The Japanese apparently are satisfied with having stopped the Russian advance." That is a cool way of letting the Russins down easily on the greatest disaster they have yet encountered.

Mrs. Maybrick denies indignantly that she is to appear on the American stage. In persevering in this determination Mrs. Maybrick will retain the good opinion of the American public, which has faith in her innocence and good sense as well.

The Georgia, Florida and Alabama railroad from Atlanta to Carrabelle, Fla. There is sound business sense in the proposition, and the project is doubly promising in view of what the construction of the Panama canal will mean to southern shipping interests.

Was the congressional franking privilege meant to allow the republican party to cheat Uncle Sam out of thousands of dollars in legitimate postage fees for the transmission of campaign literature through the mails? And was the Congressional Record intended for a republican campaign document?

We are so thinkful to Baron Hayashi, the Japanese amabassador at London, for his little side explanations of Japanese intentions in Manchuria. These, in conjunction with our own General Miles' illuminative essays on the situation, make us feel that the war correspondent is altogether superfluous in the Far East.

The Interstate Commerce Issue.

The following is an extract from an editorial leader in The Chicago Record-Herald, a republican newspaper:

For they have sown the wind and they shall reap the whirlwind.—Hos. viii, 7.

This passage from scripture is recommended to the earnest consideration of the men who are making a mock of the interstate commerce law and exalting themselves in the thought that they can reduce the interstate commerce commission to impotence. For they are challenging a whole people to combat when the people are in a temper not only to accept the challenge but to give battle without quarter.

It is plain, too, that there is reason enough for the aggressive spirit that is manifested by the people. Confronted in the first place with the dangerous power of monopolies which was exercised with an arrogant disregard of every principle of justice, they have had numerous laws enacted to curb that power only to have them evaded by obvious tricks and hidden frauds. It is the same story, whether these laws are state laws or federal laws, anti-trust acts or interstate commerce acts, whether the evasions are by mergers, gentlemen's agreements, or private car contracts.

Such methods delay, but they do not prevent a day of reckoning, in which the maze of legal technicalities will come to naught and power will be wrested from those who abuse it. How radical the remedy may be we do not know, but the greater the provocation the more thorough the deprivation of power will be. If it is necessary for the state to take over monopolies in order to control them it will do so. The whirlwind will not cease until the people are freed from the fraud and oppression of which they make such just complaint.

A populist or even a socialistic paper would hardly have put the case more strongly, so far as the "whirl wind" threat is concerned, and this republican paper speaks the solemn truth. If there is one issue of all others that, because of its vital importance, deserves to be made paramount in the present campaign, that issue is the one involved in the emasculated state of the interstate commerce commission. Unable to thwart the will of the people and the cause of justice by preventing the passage of the interstate commerce bill in a congress actuated by democratic honesty, the pooled railroads of the land seem to have negatived the regulative powers of the interstate commerce commission to their entire satisfaction by, as the author of the bill, John H. Reagan, expressed it, "picking away" its vital provisions in the federal courts.

As the result of adverse decisions in the federal courts, the interstate commerce act is, to all practical intent and purposes, a dead letter, and the interstate commerce commission little better than a superfluous official sineoure. It follows that the shippers of the United States are being mulcted out of millions of dollars every year in extortionate freight rates, and scores of cities are being discriminated against in the fixing of freight tariffs in favor of other cities that happen to be in railroad favor. The common carriers are today making effective one of the most gigantic combinations in restraint of trade in the whole country, for what restrains trade like excessive freight rates, and who can doubt the combination of the common carriers? Of course, as in the case of the meat packers, this monopolistic condition may be legally determined to be "not proven," but the public is not inclined to give the noncompeting railroads the benefit of a single doubt. The effect is too obviously from a certain cause.

At the present time the only remedy in sight is the platform declaration of the democratic party, which promises the oppressed public another congressional effort to regulate interstate commerce through an act that will hold good in the courts where the other act is apparently defective. It may be argued that for a few years to come a republican senate will effectually veto any legislation of the kind by a democratic house, but this, if true, is no reason why the popular electorate should not lay hold of the nearest weapon at hand. A democratic administration, pledged to interstate commerce relief, is infinitely preferable to a republican administration that for eight years has attempted no relief and that in its present platform ignores the subject altogether. It is democratic control of the legislative and executive branches of the government that is calculated to avert the "whirlwind" of outworn public patience which our esteemed Chicago contemporary declares is coming. Better it were averted in this way than in recourse to paternalistic socialistic hobbies like government ownership.

As we remarked at the outset, this is the greatest political issue before the American people today, and that is saying a great deal. The hamstrung shipping interests of the country are crying despairingly for relief. The democratic party promises needed relief, if it is possible through legislation and administrative influence. The republican party promises nothing. It says not a word. It stands as a self-confessed party to the conspiracy of the common carriers against the common citizenship.

The democratic campaign managers are making a serious tactical mistake if they do not lay much stress on the attitude of the St. Louis platform toward the great interstate commerce question.

Cursing Soldiers.

The eminent Russian correspondents stationed at Mukden are sending our lurid and warlike pictures of Russian and Japanese soldiers out on the firing line facing and cursing one another.

The picture would under ordinary circumstances be set down as one of those graphic descriptions of the real things, to be regretted, perhaps, but not wondered at, in war.

In this particular instance, however, it contains a flaw. It would be all right save that the correspondents have not as yet learned one essential fact with reference to the Japanese soldiers.

They do not swear!

Neither the Japanese soldiers nor the Japanese people have as yet learned to swear. There are no swear words in their language. The swear idea does not penetrate their understanding.

Poor barbarians! How far they are behind the civilization of Europe!

But it is to be remembered in their behalf that they are, as a nation, new to Occidental life. They will probably learn.

The State Fair at Macon.

It is highly gratifying to learn that the state fair at Macon has had an auspicious opening.

The fair is an institution in which all the people of Georgia should feel pride. It does not belong to Macon alone, but it is a Georgia enterprise in all the term implies, and as such its success is a matter of interest from one end of the state to the other.

The people of Atlanta and of every other city and town in the state should give practical evidence of their interest and appreciation by attending this exhibition of Georgia's agricultural and other resources. The railroads have provided a special rate for all fair visitors, and from all accounts received the fair is well worth a visit.

Macon has manifested commendable interest in the enterprise and naturally takes to herself much credit for its completeness. This credit is fully due. But the show belongs to all Georgia, and the people should show by their patronage that they realize this fact.

Governor Heyward's Good Work.

Governor Heyward deserves the commendation not of South Carolinans alone, but of all southerners, for the prompt and effective methods he has employed to bring to trial the men charged with being implicated in the recent lynching in Berkeley county.

As told in The Constitution's dispatches from Columbia, the governor, not being satisfied with the efforts of the local officials to run down the alleged lynchers, sent detectives into the county with the result that five men must now face trial.

The governor has taken steps to insure not only the arrest, but the trial, free from intimidation, of the men who, according to the testimony adduced, are under suspicion of having committed the crime in question. In his efforts he has had the hearty support of the leading newspapers of South Carolina, who have been most earnest in their protest against mob law.

In that state, as in every other state of the south, the sentiment is overwhelmingly against lynching, and if the authorities are all as determined as Governor Heyward in their efforts to find and bring to punishment the men charged with this crime against state authority, the days of lynching lawlessness will be numbered.

It will not require many such evidences of determination to punish lynching, such as Governor Heyward has given, to let the mob understand there is no place for it in the southern states. Once the lawless elements understand this, there will be no more outbreaks to bring damage and danger and disgrace upon this section.

It is impossible to overestimate the value to the entire south of such an act as that of Governor Heyward. That act shows, more clearly than any words can, where the good people of South Carolina stand, and not only that state, but all others, are benefited. And the benefit can be made doubly valuable by all officials demonstrating the same spirit in dealing with this great question.

That Same Old Cry.

The speech of Judge Parker, in which he emphasizes his attitude upon the Philippine issue has started the administration claquers afresh.

Instead of endeavoring to combat the logic of his argument, they follow the lead of The Philadelphia Press, which cries out that discussion of the Philippine question, indeed, any mention of the name of those precious islands, "will kindle the flames of sedition" in the islands.

"Judge Parker," declares The Press, amid an orgie of editorial leads—

Has broken out on the Philippine question with a violence which no disturber has surpassed and no responsible leader has equalled. He has out-Bryaned Bryan, he has out Carmacked Carmack. He incites the Filipinos to insurrection. He stimulates revolt. He inflames passion. He fires the torch and excites conflict. His tone is bitter; his spirit is vindictive; his implication is revolution. Is this vehemence the passion of disappointment?

As to the vehemence of Judge Parker, there is need to say little. But it might as well be said right here that the vehemence of The Press is tommyrot.

Judge Parker has simply restated the position of his party as it is set forth in the St. Louis platform, and as it was in the platform of 1900. The democratic party believes that the people of the Philippines should, at the earliest possible opportunity consistent with the peace and the preservation of the rights of property in the islands, be given the same measure of freedom that this country gave to Cuba. Nothing more, and certainly nothing less. The democratic party and its candidate have the courage to say what they believe, while the republicans maintain the sneaking, the cowardly attitude of evasion.

There is one thing very certain, and that is the democratic party will ever stand for the freedom of speech. It stands now, and it will always stand, for the free and frank and open discussion of those governmental policies which affect American insitutions. The republicans make a man of straw out of possible agitation for independence on the part of the people of the Philippines, and then the republican leaders with one voice cry "sedition" at whomsoever dares discuss the danger to this country of a policy of colonialism which is as foreign to the spirit of American institutions today as it was in the days when the Declaration of Independence was penned and the British yoke cast off.

Sedition? It is the Tory republicans who are guilty of it, not those who raise their voices for freedom. The Tories are the real traitors.

Down with the Tories who would stamp out free speech in the American republic!

ATLANTA'S GREAT FIGHT FOR FAIR FREIGHT RATES.

Atlanta Seeks the Sea.

(From The Columbia, S. C., State.)

As the water won't come to Atlanta Atlanta is going to the water by her own railroad line in order to get the water rates.

Atlanta Press Aroused.

(From the Dothan, Ala., Siftings.)

Atlanta's newspapers have done so much for the city we almost feel like they will win the battle for better freight rates.

Argument for State Ownership.

(From The Jackson Economist.)

Atlanta is just now raising a row over her freight rates that is demonstrating the wisdom of the state owning the railroads and operating them in the interest of the people instead of the corporations. How long will people allow prejudice to blind them to their interest.

In for a Hard Fight.

(From The Blue Ridge Southern World.)

Atlanta has had the name of getting almost anything she wants, but it is certain now she is up against about the biggest thing she has eve rtackled, in the shape of the freight rate discrimination against her by the railroads entering that city.

Will Find the Way.

(From The Wilmington, N. C., Dispatch.)

Atlanta is making a great effort to secure water transportation to the sea. She is a powerful long ways inland but the Atlanta spirit is not to be discounted and if there is a possible chance they will find it. They are a wonderful set of people when it comes to going out and seeking what is wanted. But it is the only way to build up a city to large proportions. We need more of that spirit in Wilmington. Restlessness is the thing most needed. Our people are prone to be well satisfied with what thegy have. But the Greater Wilmington spirit is growing all the time and taking deeper hold every day.

The Example of Memphis.

(From The Columbia, S. C., Record.)

Atlanta is making a strong and stubborn fight to secure reduced freight rates, and her daily papers point to the example of Memphis as a good one to follow. In that city when a railroad wants even the smallest public concession, the municipal authorities insert a clause in the franchise ordinances declaring that should the railroad receiving the concession discriminate against the city in passenger or freight traffic, the franchise rights shall become null and void. This policy is said to have relieved that city of oppressive rates. It is a very simple, but thoroughly effective plan, and the city gets something in return for valuable concessions.

Joining In.

(From The Augusta Herald.)

Now Macon, seeing what Atlanta has done, is waking up on the freight question.

Judge Hopkins' Remedy.

(From The Rome Tribune.)

Judge John L. Hopkins, one of Atlanta's most distinguished men, has a communication in a recent issue of The Constitution on the subject of lynching that will commend itself to all thinking men.

The Tribune, in common with all patriots, longs to see the day when lynchings, for any and all causes, will be things of the past. We realize the inevitable end of mob rule. Therefore we welcome to the public prints such men as Judge Hopkins, for he comes with not only words of condemnation for the mob, but he offers a suggestion for curing the evil.

Undoubtedly the last clause in Judge Hopkins' card, wherein he calls for a revision of the criminal procedure in Georgia, will strike a popular chord. The Tribune thinks that the old excuse, "the law's delay," has been sadly overworked in Georgia, but we are willing to admit that there is much in the cry that is not unjustified. That certain lawyers have grossly abused the privileges allowed them by the law is true, but that three-fourths of the cry about the criminal delay of the law is justified by the facts, we are not willing to admit.

However that may be, it is from the concerted opinion of such men as John L. Hopkins the remedy shall come that will lead us out of the darkness into the sunlight of reason.

TWO BROTHERS GO TO TOWER.

Vinas and Mercer Richardson Held on the Charge of Burglary.

On the charge of burglarizing the Atlanta stove works, Vinas and Mercer Richardson, two brothers, aged 20 and 15 years, respectively, were sent to the Tower yesterday morning by Recorder Broyles in default of bonds assessed at $1,000 and $500.

It is charged that the brothers stole from the stove works five heating stoves and a lot of piping, which they sold. The place was broken open when the stoves were taken. Some of the stolen piping was found at the home of the youths, 63 McLendon avenue, yesterday morning by the police.

Vinas Richardson at one time worked for the Atlanta stove works. Neither prisoner made a statement in court yesterday. They are represented by Attorny P. F. Smith.

DEMOCRATIC FIGHT MADE ON WELL DEFINED LINES

By Jos: Ohl.

THAT the democratic national committee has been working along carefully thought out lines in holding back for a whirlwind finish is made clear by interesting testimony which comes from republican sources at Albany. The correspondent there of The Boston Transcript, which is a supporter of Mr. Roosevelt and the republican party, tells that shortly after his nomination, Judge Parker called together the managers of his campaign and spoke to them in substantially the following words:

We cannot hope to keep public enthusiasm at white heat during the three months that intervene between this time and election day. In the first place we haven't the money and in the second place, if we had the money, interest in the canvass would be bound to sag off toward the end if it were prolonged. We will therefore merely keep the issues before the people in a persistent, reiterative sort of way until the last week in October, meanwhile spending surplus energy in building new fences and strengthening those that have been falling down. But the last two weeks of this campaign we will make a whirlwind and a climax and the time will be so short that there will be no chance of an anti-climax. By this method we will stimulate interest when it is most needed and when it will bring voters with well-defined ideas to the polls.

It is in accordance with Judge Parker's advice thus given that the plan of campaign was determined upon. A good many democratic politicians have argued that the opposite course was the proper one in a campaign which found the democrats outside the breastworks, but all of these have been referred to the successful campaign made in the interest of Mr. Cleveland in 1892 in which these Parker tactics were followed.

Everybody who has been brought in personal contact with the democratic nominee bears testimony to the interesting fact that Judge Parker himself is perfectly confident of his election. In discussing details, the democratic nominee is perfectly frank. He says he knows he is going to get the independent vote, and he feels confident that this, with the normal democratic vote, will elect him. He says he realizes that a candidate hears for the most part only the favorable things, but he believes he is politician enough to discount the enthusism of his supporters and to analyze the value of the testimony that comes to him. Every man who has talked with Judge Parker is impressed with the belief that he possesses keen insight into political conditions and they place more value in his conclusions than they would ordinarily give those of a candidate.

Judge Parker's Political Training.

Answering the oft-repeated insinuation that Judge Parker is nothing more than a politician, The Brooklyn Eagle throws interesting light upon his early career. The Eagle takes as its text the following excerpt from an article of Alfred Henry Lewis, who is a warm supporter of President Roosevelt:

"Mr. Parker was reared in politics at the knee of Mr. Hill, which latter learned professor of the Devious Science fails not to instruct against integrities that invite a peril, and ever frowns upon whatever honesties are transacted at a loss." Again, "Mr. Parker was a boss-made judge, a machine-made judge. He went to the bench not because he knew law but politics, not because he had helped the public but Mr. Hill. For myself, I know of nothing that would more mark one out for the distrust of mankind than that same Hillian approval."

Commenting upon this, The Eagle says:

"Here are a few facts. When quite a young man Parker took such an intelligent interest in Ulster county politics that he attracted the attention of Samuel J. Tilden, whose representative he became in that section of the state. Hill was not then conspicuous, nor had he any such political power as he afterwards acquired—he was a Tilden lieutenant in Chemung. Parker also attracted the attention of Grover Cleveland, upon whom he created an impression so favorable that Cleveland offeerd to him the place of first assistant postmaster general, an appointment which was declined. When Hill was nominated for the governorship, there was war to the knife between democratic factions. Things looked ugly for the candidate. He found it difficult to muster a campaign manager into service, making many overtures without eliciting a favorable response. State Treasurer Maxwell solved the problem for him, referring him to Parker, at which time the two—Parker and Hill—virtually had no acquaintance with each other. Reluctantly enough Parker was persuaded. At that time the tide was running in the wrong direction, but Parker succeeded in turning it. Hill was elected. His victory was altogether attributed to the fight Parker made in his behalf. The death of Judge Westbrook vacated a seat upon the supreme court bench.

"Westbrook was from Ulster county, and when Ulster county lawyers learned that an Ulster county lawyer was not to get the place, they invaded Albany. Hill yielded, and Parker was appointed. He yielded not because he wanted Parker, who was not his first choice, but because the claims of Ulster county were such as warranted demand rather than request, and he recognized their force. When at Saratoga two years ago, the democracy of the state wanted Parker for governor, Hill forced a nomination which fell like a wet blanket on the delegates. That is the whole story. That is all there is in the nonsense that 'Mr. Parker was reared in politics at the knee of Mr. Hill.' They are not identical types. They resemble each other not in the least. Parker was of great service to Hill at a time when he needed it most. He acknowledged that service by an appointment only in the face of a strong protest against the selection he at first proposed to make. He dictated another nomination when it was clear that the convention wanted Parker as its candidate for the governorship. He sought to suppress the gold telegram sent to St. Louis, a dispatch which he never would have sent on his own account—he is not that manner of man. It did not receive what Mr. Lewis calls the 'Hillian approval.' Further proof would seem to be unnecessary. Nearly all that Hill is not, Parker may be said to be. To couple one with the other is to harness the ill assorted."

As to Campaign Betting.

Mighty little weight should be given the stories about betting odds. They are indicative of nothing more than effort on the part of political managers to impress the public. All these people pictured by the New York papers as making big bets are placing the money of other people, and doing it for a purpose.

While on this subject of betting, here's a word of advice: Be careful how you bet on the electoral vote. Bear in mind that the electoral college is larger this year by twenty-nine votes than it was four years ago. In 1900 the division of the electoral vote was: McKinley 292; Bryan 155. If the two parties were to carry exactly the same states this year as they did then the vote would be: Republican 311; democrats 165.

This by way of illustration. Look out for trick bets on the electoral vote. Better still, look out for all votes. The bettor and his money are soon parted.

Bryan's Work in Indiana.

Political correspondents on the scene praise Chairman Taggart for his wisdom in sending Mr. Bryan through Indiana. The testimony is unanimous that he is doing much good. The republican correspondents affect to believe that the result of the Bryan campaign is simply the saving of a great many votes to democracy, not the gain of any; but this admission coming from such a source means more than appears on the surface.

The correspondent of The Chicago Tribune, the most influential republican newspaper of the west, comments on Mr. Bryan's work in Indiana in this way:

"Bryan is saving thousands of votes in Indiana, but he is not making any. He has been in the state since the middle of the week, and has had extraordinary receptions everywhere. His crowds have been the only ones of any magnitude during this campaign. He is doing the work for which he was brought to Indiana, and doing it well. That is to say, Bryan has stopped the landslide against Parker among the old silver democrats. He will, in all probability, hold the democratic vote about to the normal figures, and has put an end to the intended slump to Watson.

"The wisdom of Tom Taggart in bringing Bryan to Indiana has been fully justified, because enormous audiences all over the country have demonstrated that the Nebraska leader still possesses all his old-time magnetism. He has argued with the people with his usual cleverness that while he is still a silver man, while he disagrees radically with Parker's gold telegram, and while he does not like the influences which surround Parker in New York, still Parker stands for some things in the democratic platform which Bryan stands for.

"Bryan is making the issue that he loves Parker not more, but Roosevelt less, and this issue is taking with the old Bryan free silver democrats. He is keeping them in the party, and his visit to Indiana is worth at least 10,000 votes to the democratic state and national tickets, and possibly more."

Eckels on the Middle West.

Sam Blythe, who is doing the middle west for The New York World, finds hope for democracy not only in Indiana, but in Wisconsin and Illinois as well. He quotes Former Comptroller of the Currency Eckels as saying that the democratic elements in Illinois are working together in harmony, and as puncturing the republican claim that Illinois is going for Roosevelt and Deneen by something like 75,000 to 100,000. He says that he feels confident if the state campaign were independent of the national race, Deneen, with the handicap of Yatesism, would be defeated for the governorship; as it is he does not regard the outlook hopeless by any means. Mr. Evkels says:

"The political situation in this section at this time is difficult to accurately gauge. The west is naturally republican, and with the exception of the time when Mr. Cleveland was a candidate, neither Illinois nor Wisconsin has given a democratic electoral vote in fifty years. The situation in Wisconsin, involving as it does a bitter factional fight among the republicans, is not without hope to the democrats.

"No one who has not talked with the leaders of both sides in that state can estimate to what extent factional passions may go. Judging by all present conditions, I should say the democratic state ticket and the larger number of the democratic members of the legislature will be elected there. The presidential situation depends upon how dsperate may be the fight on the governorship. I have no doubt that Governor La Follette will sacrifice President Roosevelt and everything else to save himself. On the other hand, the Stalwarts will not hesitate at any sacrifice which will insure the downfall of La Folletteism in Wisconsin.

"In Illinois the republicans are confident in the highest degree of an overwhelming victory. I do not believe they will receive the number of votes they are counting on. So far as I can learn, all factions of the democratic party are working together in harmony. Whatever personal bitterness there may have been growing out of the state convention has been put aside in the desire to make as good a showing for the state as it is possible. The dominant factor in the Illinois election is Chicago, and with the various interests involved and the various nationalities represented no one can predict with any degree of certainty either way. The democrats labor under the serious embarrassment of not having sufficient money to fully organize either in Chicago or the state at large, or to get the voters to the polls on election day.

"Of course, in this state, as elsewhere, a comparitively general indifference exists in contrast to the ordinary excitement which attaches to a presidential canvass. But this does not necessarily indicate that the vote will not be large nor that either party will have an overwhelming sucess. The argument made by the republicans is that general business conditions are good, and that it is therefore unwise to disturb them; and this alone seems to be the subject matter of whatever speches are being made by campaign orators."

A Republican Secret Service.

Mr. Blythe discovered in Indiana some highly interesting facts concerning the methods of management adopted by Chairman Cortelyou. He says one of the features of the Indiana situation is a secret service. Five members of this service have been following Mr. Bryan on his tour of the state, each without knowledge of the presence of the others. Each goes into every town and village where Bryan has spoken and makes a careful report upon the effect of his speech, reporting directly to the western headquarters of the republican national committee. Captain Harry New, who is in charge of western headquarters and who knows the politics of Indiana about as well as Tom Taggart himself, checks up these reports, for to him has been especially assigned the responsibility of carrying the Hoosier state for Roosevelt.

These reports, says Mr. Blythe, show that approximately 15,000 of what he calls the "radical element" of democrats who were inclined against Parker, have been brought into line for him; and that as the gold democrats are back in the party, the issue has resolved itself into whether there are more republicans than democrats in Indiana.

The republican managers believe the early start they have got will give them a decided advantage over their democratic opponents. They express the conviction that Mr. Taggart will be unable to undo the work they have done—and they insinuate that this is work of a character that will catch the independent voter who, in Indiana, is independent for revenue only. One of the republican managers is quoted as saying: "We began our honeycomb ninety days ago and we have organizations in every precinct. It doesn't make any difference how much money Taggart may bring into the state, he can't touch us. We are sure of that. All we have got to do now is to hold our advantage and we think we can do that."

No concealment is made, however, of the fact that the coming of Tom, who is to devote most of his time from now until the finish to Indiana, is a source of anxiety to the republican management. They know his power and they fear him. With regard to the money end of the Indiana situation, Mr. Blythe adds:

"So far as campaign funds in Indiana are concerned, the two parties are about on evens. The democrats have but little money as yet. The republicans have been helped some by the national committee, but they are complaining bitterly of the parsimony of Cortelyou, who has told them how far he will go and that they must get their own money after that. The Indiana republican leaders confess privately that their demands for speakers have been refused. They have tried to get all the big men of the party there and have been told that Fairbanks and Beveridge will be sent into the state during the last few days of the campaign, and that they must be satisfied with that. Cortelyou has notified the Indiana men, as he has all the other managers in the west, that all the big speakers and nearly all the money are being saved for New York."

Georgians on the Stump.

Newspaper comment upon the progress of the campaign appearing in the New York papers tells of the activity of Senator Bacon in the middle west and of the assignments he has in the doubtful states of the east. He spoke at a big rally at Naugatuck, Conn., Tuesday night; one at Cooper Union, in New York city, Wednesday night; last night he was in Wilmington, Del., and tonight he is to make another address in Delaware; while Saturday night he is to be in Jersey City. Senator Clay is to go at once to Delaware, Maryland and West Virginia. Judge Adamson, of the fourth district, is to spend some time in Indiana and in Missouri. He has also been assigned to speak in one of the close congressional districts in Alabama.

DAILY TIPS FROM THE PATENT OFFICE.

Shower Bath Attachment.

The shower has become recognized as a wholesome and delightful feature of the morning bath, and in some cases, in the equipment of the real up to date bathroom, it has entirely supplanted the tub. In such instances as these the usual tub is displaced with a much smaller affair of such dimensions as will catch the splashings from the overhead faucet, and this receptacle is never more than 12 inches in depth. Sometimes this arrangement is surrounded by a curtain of waterproof material for the purpose of directing the falling water into the tub, and prevent it from falling on the floor outside. Such an installation as this is quite expensive to instal in a house which has already been supplied with bath facilities, because of the additional pipe which must be run up the wall to furnish the supply to the sprinkler, but an exceedingly simple device for obtaining the delights of the shower bath has been invented in the nature of an attachment to a form of spigot which is almost universally made use of in a bath tub. In this new feature an elbow pipe carries on its extremity a bulb, which is maintained at about the level of the top of the tub, and the bulb portion is perforated in such a manner that when the water is turned on the spray is thrown out from one end of the tub to the other, entirely showering the person of the bather.

The great recommendation of this attachment is its very moderate cost, and, at the same time, its effectiveness, which is said to answer all the purposes of the high-priced equipment witnout subjecting the residents of the household to the inconvenience of tearing out and placing the overhead installation.

COMPRESS FIGHT IS FAR REACHING

Might Mean the Loss of Thousands of Dollars.

New Compress Does Work Right at the Gin, and Ginners Want Compressed Cotton Rate—Question Now Before Railroad Commission.

Though of seeming small import, there is now in progress before the railroad commission a fight over cotton rates that may mean thousands and hundreds of thousands of dollars to the railroads, or to the big cotton compress owners, which is the same thing.

The question, briefly stated, is whether cotton compressed by the Monger system, right at the gin, shall be transported at the same rate as regularly compressed cotton, or rather whether for purposes of transportation cotton compressed by the Monger compress shall be considered as compressed cotton.

In the event the railroad commission should decide in the affirmative and hold that the cotton compressed by this system at the gin should be transported as compressed cotton, these Monger presses which can be put in at a cost of about $3,000, would be placed at most of the gins and the work done right there.

The result of this would be that the necessity for the big cotton compresses, all of which are practically owned by the railroads, would be done away with and they would thus become comparatively useless except for scrap iron. It can readily be seen how this would cause a loss of perhaps hundreds of thousands of dollars to the owners of the compresses, not only in the machinery itself, but in the profits which they now derive from compressing cotton.

Complaint Is Heard.

The complaint in question is made by J. S. Cowart, of Arlington, who has put in a Monger press at his gin at that place. Mr. Cowart asks the railroad commission to compel the railroads to transport his cotton compressed by this system as compressed cotton.

For example, the present rate on cotton from Arlington to Savannah is 40 cents per hundred. This rate includes the compressing, which is figured at about 10 cents per hundred pounds. So that if the cotton is delivered to the railroads already compressed it would reduce the rate to about 30 cents per hundred, and this is the rate which Mr. Cowart wants from Arlington to Savannah.

The railroad commission had the case up for hearing yesterday, Mr. Cowart being represented by Judge Howard Van Epps. For the railroads there were present General Freight Agent W. E. Estes, of the Central of Georgia; General Freight Agent L. Green, of the Southern; General Freight Agent A. G. Jackson, of the Georgia railroad; General Freight Agent George R. Knox, of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis; General Freight Agent James Menzies, of the Atlantic Coast Line; General Freight Agent A. R. Smith, of the West Point, and Assistant General Freight Agent L. E. Chalenor, of the Seaboard.

The testimony brought out the fact that whereas from thirty to forty bales of uncompressed cotton can be packed in the standard freight car, about sixty-five to seventy bales compressed by the Monger system can be put in the same car. It was claimed that while the Monger bale is not so closely compressed as the bale compressed by the big compresses, it does not take up much if any more space, because it is a shorter bale.

The railroads claim that it amounts practically to an uncompressed bale since it cannot be conveniently handled along with cotton compressed in the old way.

At the request of the railroads, the hearing was continued to some future date which may be convenient to all parties.

HE INSULTED YOUNG LADIES

Arriving in Atlanta from Wrightsville, Ga., three days ago, for the purpose of getting medical treatment, R. Thomas Kennedy, a young white man, is said to have tanked up on whisky, wandered into a private residence at 85 Courtland street, and acted in a very rude manner toward two young ladies. When asked at the door of the residence what he wanted, he replied:

"Don't ask me too many questions, sweetheart."

He was put out of the house by a boarder, but shortly afterward returned and attempted to again enter the house. The police were notified by telephone and a call officr locked him up.

In the recorder's court yesterday afternoon, Kennedy stated that he meant no harm.

"Why, I would get down on my knees in the dust to any woman who says I insulted her," he stated. "I came here to get medical treatment, for I have been a very sick man."

"You ought to have stayed sober," the recorder told him. "I will fine you $25.75, and if you can't pay it you will have to work thirty days in the city chaingang."

Kennedy was held over at the police barracks last night to give him a chance to communicate with his friends in Wrightsville.

Albany Plans for Halloween.

Albany, N. Y., October 20.—Business men and newspapers here have united in planning a unique public celebration to take place on October 31, in honor of halloween. Funds have been raised by popular subscription, which will be expended in a carnival lasting through the day and evening.

In the morning one of the prettiest girls the committee can find will be crowned Queen Titania and over 500 persons in costume will take part in the ceremony on the broad stairway approach to the capitol. The queen and her retinue will then proceed to the city hall, where the keys of the city will be received from the mayor to be used in a symbolical unlocking of the four gates of the city.

The evening will be devoted to a parade of floats and an attempt will be made to reproduce the carnival scenes of New Orleans and Italy.

Judge Felton Congratulates Good Citizens of Crawford.

Roberta, Ga., October 20.—(Special.)—Crawford superior court adjourned today, leaving only eight cases on docket to be disposed of—two criminal and six civil.

Judge Felton congratulated the citizens of the county on their God-fearing, debt-paying, law-abiding disposition, saying that he doubted if such a record was equaled by any county in the state. A few more prosperous years and the court house can be used for other purposes, as it will not be needed for courts.

NAMES OF STATESBORO MOB WILL GO TO THE GRAND JURY

Evidence Is Sent by Governor Terrell To Solicitor General Rawlings---Democrats Urged to Vote. Congressional Committee to Meet.

It is now up to the superior court of Bulloch county to deal with the leaders and members of the mob which took the negroes, Reed and Cato, away from the troops and burned them at the stake.

Governor Terrell yesterday shipped by express to Solicitor General B. T. Rawlings, of the middle circuit, to which Bulloch county belongs, the testimony taken before the court of inquiry appointed to investigate the action of the troops at Statesboro at the time the negroes were lynched. This testimony gives a number of names of those who are said to have participated in the work of the mob.

In addition to the foregoing a part of the testimony taken before the court martial which tried Captain Robert M. Hitch and other officers involved, will be sent today to Solicitor General Rawlings. This testimony contains an additional list of names of those who are said to have participated in the mob.

When the verdicts of the court martial have been acted upon and this testimony placed in the hands of the solicitor general of the circuit, Governor Terrell will have done all in his power to vindicate the law. It is not within his power to take any other steps, and if anything else is to be done it must be done by the grand jury and the court officials in Bulloch county.

The verdicts of the court martial were not filed with the adjutant general yesterday, as was expected. The officials who have had charge of the work of preparing them were not able to get them ready in time. They will be filed today, however, and will be presented at once to the governor for his action. It is expected the governor's decision will be announced some time during the day.

Democrats Should Vote.

Chairman M. J. Yeomans, of the state democratic executive committee, was in the city yesterday on business. Chairman Yeomans is seeking to impress upon the democrats of the state the importance of casting their ballots in the coming national election for electors for president and vice president and for congressmen.

It is reported that the followers of Candidate Thomas E. Watson are making a big stir in Georgia and are seeking to corral a large part of the republican and independent vote. It is incumbent upon the democrats of Georgia, therefore, Chairman Yeomans says, to go to the polls on November 8, and cast their ballots for the democratic electors and democratic candidates for congress.

Following is a letter on the subject which Chairman Yeomans has sent to the chairman of each county executive committee in the state, urging them to put forth all their efforts to get every democrat to the polls on this occasion:

State Democratic Executive Committee, Dawson, Ga., October 18, 1904.—My Dear Sir: The presidential election is close at hand and the democracy of the nation is looking to us for the largest majority ever given the party in Georgia. The issues that confront us are more vital than any with which we have had to deal since the days of reconstruction. The south is on trial and the result of this election will determine whether we will proceed with the solution of the problems that confront us, unmolested or whether we will be handicapped by federal interference and race prejudice intensified as never before.

Under the laws of Georgia electors must receive a majority vote. If the democrats stay at home and the populists, republicans, prohibitionists and socialists go to the polls and vote, the democratic ticket will not receive a majority, and the legislature will have to be convened in extraordinary session to choose electors.

Let me, therefore, urge you to put forth every effort in your power to get all of the democrats to the polls. If necessary, call the executive committee together and arrange for a personal canvass of the democratic voters, and at least one rally in your county before the election. Every democrat should vote.

We must give Parker and Davis the largest majority any candidate ever received in Georgia. Upon you depends the result. Yours sincerely.

M. J. YEOMANS,
Chairman State Democratic Executive Committee.

Congressional Committee.

An important meeting of the democratic executive committee of the fifth congressional district will be held at the Kimball house at noon tomorrow. The call for this meeting was issued yesterday by Chairman Charles N. Allen, who urges upon all members of the committee, the importance of being present.

It is well known that there is a contest on over the seat in congress from the fifth district, C. P. Goree being the republican candidate against Congressman L. F. Livingston, who has been nominated for reelection. It is incumbent upon the committee to get busy in Colonel Livingston's behalf, and this subect will, no doubt, receive considerable attention at the meeting tomorrow.

Following is the call for the meeting issued by Chairman Allen:

Atlanta, Ga., October 19.—Hon. Daniel McGill, Secretary Democratic Executive Committee, Fifth Congressional District Georgia, Decatur, Ga.: Dear Sir—Please notify all members of the democratic executive committee for the fifth congressional district of Georgia that a session of said committee will be held in the city of Atlanta, Ga., Saturday, October 22, 1904, in room No. 104 Kimball house at noon.

The session will be an important one, and all members are respectfully urged to be present. Very respectfully,

CHARLES N. ALLEN,
Chairman.

The Contest in Fannin.

An interesting stage has been reached in the contest over the office of ordinary of Fannin county, according to reports brought here from Blue Ridge by several well-known Georgians.

All the evidence possible has been taken in the contest between Ordinary W. A. Daves, who was reelected, and J. W. Gilliam, who claims he was counted out, up to the point of going into the ballot boxes themselves and comparing the tickets with the voters' list.

Said a well-known Georgian who came down yesterday from Blue Ridge:

"After all the other possible evidence had been taken, a demand was made upon Clerk of the Superior Court Kincaid for the ballot boxes in order that the tickets might be compared with the voters' lists. Clerk Kincaid has refused to deliver up the ballot boxes, and asserts that he will not do so.

"It is required under the law that the evidence in such contests must be taken within thirty days after the election, but unless the contestants can have the ballot boxes brought into court, it is apparent they cannot conclude the testimony. They may indict the clerk of the superior court for a misdemeanor for refusing to produce them, and there was some talk of that when I left Blue Ridge. Another plan is to mandamus him. But it can readily be seen that either of these proceedings could be carried on through the courts until a time long after the expiration of the thirty days for taking evidence, and then the contest would fall through. It looks as if the contest will be a failure on this account.

"Without discussing the merits of the contest in Fannin, it is apparent that some more effective method for getting at the ballot boxes when necessary is required, or the time for taking evidence in such cases should be extended by law until the questions involved in such contests can be decided. I don't know who is right in this contest, but there should be no obstruction to all the facts in the case being brought to light, and the whole matter decided on its merits."

New Camp at Macon.

Chairman J. S. Turner and Commissioner Clement A. Evans, of the prison commission, will go to Macon today for the purpose of looking into the details of the organizatin there of a new convict camp near that city.

This convict camp will be operated by W. J. Massey, who has secured his convicts by sub-leasing them from several of the operators of turpentine camps. Two of these turpentine camps will be merged into the new camp, and convicts will also be secured from other turpentine camps. Mr. Massey will have in his camp about 100 convicts in all, for which he has had to pay an advanced price to the original lessees.

The new camp will be a brick camp, devoted exclusively to the manufacture of brick. The transfer of the men will take place on November 1. Commissioners Turner and Evans will inspect the plans for the stockade and other buildings and see that they are constructed in accordance with the requirements of the commission.

Wildcat Insurance Company.

Comptroller General William A. Wright has received five letters within the last two days from widely separated sections of the state, but all from sparsely settled localities, making inquiries about the standing of the Hartford Insurance Company, of New York city.

This company which, it appears, has assumed a name similar to that of one of the old and well-established fire insurance companies, is seeking to do business without authority of law, in sections of the state where the rates charged by other companies are somewhat high.

The Hartford Insurance Company, of New York city, is not licensed to do business in Georgia, and any of its agents or representatives who may be caught within the state are liable to prosecution and indictment. So far as the comptroller general could find, there is no record of this company in any of the insurance reports. He, therefore, regards it as a wildcat company organized for the purpose of getting money out of the people and one which assumes no risk or responsibility.

The comptroller general thinks that such a concern as this should be denied the use of the mails on the ground of fraud, and he expects to take the matter up with the postoffice authorities at Washington.

Says He Did Not Vote.

Rev. A. M. Williams, of Savannah, who made the charge from his pulpit in that city recently that there had been extensive fraud in counting the votes in the election in Chatham county, and that the ballot boxes had been stuffed to the extent of more than 3,000 votes, was at the capitol yesterday for the purpose of making an investigation of the returns from Chatham in the hands of Secretary of State Philip Cook.

Rev. Mr. Williams found upon inspection of these returns that his name was on the list of those who had voted in Savannah on October 5.

"I did not vote in the election," said Mr. Williams. "My bollot seems to have been cast for me without my going to the polls."

Rev. Mr. Williams charges that this was done in several thousand cases so that Chatham returned 4,520 votes, though he alleges that less than 800 were actually cast.

Appointed by Governor.

Governor Terrell yesterday made several appointments of judges and solicitors for new courts which were created by enactment of the last legislature. The appointments were as follows:

Walter L. Hodges, to be judge, and John H. Skelton, to be solicitor, of the city court of Hartwell, each for a term of four years from November 1, 1904. Mr. Hodges was formerly a member of the house of representatives. Mr. Skelton was the senator from his district in the legislature recently adjourned.

L. D. Shannon was named as judge and H. B. Wimberly solicitor of the county court of Twiggs county for period of four years from October 18.

Hon. J. A. Laing, solicitor general of the Pataula circuit, came up from his home at Dawson yesterday and spent the day in the city. Both Mr. Laing and Sheriff-elect J. H. Oxford, of Terrell county, spent some time visiting friends at the capitol.

Colonel W. F. Findlay, of Gainesville, was in the city yesterday. Colonel Findlay is one of the two alternate electors at large on the democratic ticket from Georgia.

GEORGIANS WIN VALUED PRIZES

St. Louis Exposition Awards Made on Many Products.

State Gets Grand Prize on Collective Exhibit of Hay and Peas—Naval Stores and Tobacco Exhibits Also Get Grand Prizes. Medals for Many.

Georgia and Georgia exhibitors are the winners of many valued prizes in the awards made in the agricultural building at the St. Louis world's fair.

Commissioner of Agriculture O. B. Stevens, who has just returned from St. Louis, where he has been looking after Georgia's interests, brings with him a list of the awards made in the Georgia exhibit, both to the state and the individual exhibitors.

The state of Georgia took one grand prize, which is the highest award, and one gold medal, which comes second in rank. The grand prize was given for Georgia's collective exhibit of hays and corn field peas, a distinctive exhibit in which Georgia surpassed most of the other states competing. It is well known everywhere that Georgia is a great cotton state, but it has remained for this exhibit to demonstrate far and wide the fact that she is also a great grass and hay growing country. The gold medal given the state is on its colective cotton exhibit.

Several of the awards made to individual exhibtors have been protested by the commissioners on the ground that the exhibits warranted higher awards, among these being the exhibits of sirup, ginger ale and cotton seed products.

Following is a complete list of the awards made to Georgia and Georgia exhibitors in the agricultural building, announcement of those in the mineral and forestry buildings not having yet been made:

A. Cohn & Co., tobacco, grand prize state of Georgia, collective exhibit of hay and corn field peas, grand prize; Savannah board of trade, naval stores exhibit, grand prize; Southern Cotton Oil Company, display of oils, gold medal; Wesson Company, lard compound, gold and silver medals; Southern Cotton Oil Company, Snowdrift lard compound, silver medal; Southern Cotton Oil Company, cotton seed products display, silver medal; Wesson Company, display of cakes, gold medal; Cargill Wight & Co., sirup, silver medal; W. B. Roddenberry, sirup, silver medal; Wesson Company, soap, gold medal; Hagan & Dodd Company, Red Rock ginger ale, silver medal; R. M. Rose Company, corn liquor, gold medal; Potts-Thompson Liquor Company, corn liquor, gold medal; W. W. Gordon & Co., cotton, gold medal; J. L. Berry, cotton, gold medal; L. G. Young, cotton, gold medal; Southern Cotton Oil Company, cotton products display, gold medal; state of Georgia, collective cotton, gold medal; Duckworth & Co., cotton, silver medal; Howell Cotton Company, cotton, silver medal; Inman, Akers & Inman, cotton, silver medal; C. C. Jones, Sr., old bale cotton, bronze medal; J. B. Holst Company, cotton, bronze medal; I. B. English & Co., cotton, bronze medal; W. O. Jones, cotton, bronze medal; Louis B. Magid, silk and silk worms, gold medal.

THE PASSING THRONG.

"Atlanta has its circus today, an exhibition, in my opinion, one of the best of the kind in the country, and the city seems full of people," remarked Charles T. Denmann, of Macon, at the Kimball yesterday afternoon. "But down our way we are giving the people of the state a bigger and a better show than the one now under canvas on the Boulevard. The Central City is thronged with people, and the sidewalks down there are about as densely packed as are the sidewalks here. The fair opened yesterday morning, and the attendance on the first day was greater than has ever been known by the managers of the state fairs. The people came from every section of the state. There was not a train which entered the city yesterday morning that did not come in loaded, while each of the many country roads leading into the Central City showed a line of vehicles of all kinds carrying Bibb county farmers and their families to the grounds. Not only was Bibb there in great numbers, other counties adjacent were represented, and throughout the day the streets and sidewalks were packed, while the hotels and the boarding houses were unable to accommodate the applicants for rooms and meals. Beyond all question, the fair is one of the largest and best the state of Georgia has ever presented."

Among the guests at the Piedmont yesterday was the Hon. Frank E. Twitty, a leading and well-known member of the Brunswick bar. Mr. Twitty stopped over in the city for a day's rest on his return home from Utah and Colorado, in which states he has been for the past month on important business. While in the west, Mr. Twitty came in contact with some of the leading political men of that section, and naturally equipped himself with an abundance of information he could not have under ordinary circumstances acquired. It was what might be termed the local political situation which attracted Mr. Twitty's attention. Speaking of what came under his observation at the Piedmont last night, Mr. Twitty said:

"The sensational feature of politics in Utah just now is the formation in that state of a third party, known as the anti-Mormon faction. Cannon, the nationally known Mormon leader, is at the head of the faction which seeks the separation of church and state. The new faction has dubbed itself the American party, and a great bitterness has already shown itself. Families are divided. It's no uncommon thing to see a father and a son opposed in the struggle which is growing more and more bitter every day. The conflict is within its infancy, and is raging fiercely and bitterly. What it may be when it grows older and the lines are more minutely or finely drawn, it is hard to predict.

"Throughout the west there is a general era of prosperity. On all hands there is life and work, and apparently every one is in good humor and well satisfied with what is going on. The Colorado miners are doing well and appear to be thoroughly satisfied. There is work for every one, and few idlers are seen anywhere. Street corners are not thronged. On the contrary, the street corners appear to be empty. My observation induces me to believe that street corners not occupied are a good indication that there is work, and that the men are at work. Crowds about street corners induce the idea that there is nothing for those in the gathering to do, and for that reason the conditions may be considered depressed."

A. C. Read, vice president of the Read Phosphate Company, of Nashville and Charleston, was among the arrivals at the Piedmont yesterday.

Emmet C. Barnes, of Richmond, one of the oldest and most widely known commercial tourists of the south, is registered at the Kimball. Mr. Barnes has been traveling the south for a quarter of a century, and is well known to the retail trade in Atlanta.

LITTLE GIRL BITTEN BY DOG.

Dauhgter of J. H. Price Bittten by Cur Dog—Officer Kills the Dog.

While returning home from school yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Irene, the little 8-year-old daughter of J. H. Price, 327 Windsor street, was severely bitten by a dog. The screams of the child attracted the attention of ex-Policeman Owens, who took her up in his arms and carried her to her home.

The child left the Ira street school at the hour of dismissal and walked down Ira for a few blocks. A cur dog, owned by Henry Reed, a negro, sprang upon the little girl just as she reached an open gate at 146 Ira street. The child tried to run out of the way, but the dog quickly overtook her and fastened his teeth in her leg.

Suffering great pain, the little girl was borne to her home. Mr. Price notified the police of the occurrence, and Call Officer Lucke went to Reed's house, and, with his consent, shot the dog to death.

The dog did not have the rabies, and while the wound is very painful it is not believed it will result seriously.

Wood-Toombs.

WASHINGTON, GA., October 20.—(Special.)—At the Church of the Mediator this evening, at 9 o'clock, occurred the brilliant wedding of Miss Julia Hardeman Toombs and Mr. Thomas Willingham Wood, of Columbus.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Louise Toombs, as maid of honor, Miss Sarah Elizabeth Irvin, Miss Ethel Almand, Miss Marie Fitzpatrick and Miss Rosa Simpkins, of Washington, Miss Cora Toombs, of Atlanta, and Miss Edwina Wood, of Columbus.

The best man and ushers were Messrs. J. Wood, Parkman Dexter, Harris Gardner and Harry Clarke, of Columbus, and Mr. E. R. Wood, of Atlanta.

The quaint little Episcopal chapel was beautifully decorated with the usual autumn effects, in the midst of which the lovely bride, surrounded by her beautiful bevy of maids, stood by the side of her chosen companion, and the two were pronounced man and wife by Rev. F. A. Brown.

Immediately after the ceremony the bridal party was tendered an elegant reception at the residence of the bride's parents, Judge and Mrs. William H. Toombs, and at midnight left on a special train for their tour.

To Miss Sorrells.

MISS GERTRUDE LIPPHART'S invitation assembled yesterday morning at her home on Peachtree sixty young ladies, or more, who enjoyed a congenial game of euchre. Miss Anne Sorrells, of Dallas, Tex., who is visiting Miss Hattie May High, was the guest of honor, and the party was a notably pretty compliment.

The house was handsomely decorated with palms and red flowers, and with the guests in their dainty morning gowns the card party picture was a bright and attractive one. After the game a delicious luncheon was served, and the prizes were awarded, the first, a pair of silk stockings, going to Miss Martha Woodward, and the consolation, a chrysanthemum fan, to Miss Nancy Waldo.

Trail Party.

MISS MATTIE MAY HIGH'S "Trail" party last night was a large and brilliant affair, at which one hundred or more of the younger belles and beaux were introduced to Miss Anne Sorrells, of Dallas, Tex., the guest of Miss High, and Miss Annabel Quinn, of Little Rock, Ark., the guest of Miss Ida Ryan.

The scene of the party was a most attractive one, the house being elaborately decorated, the game an animated one, and all the young ladies attired in their fresh autumn party gowns, while the two charming guests of honor were centers of admiration throughout the evening.

Appropriate to the game, the score cards were hunting dogs, and dainty prizes were awarded, the first for ladies, a chrysanthemum fan; the first for gentlemen, a silver match box, and the consolation, a book. A delicious supper was served after the game, and Wurm's orchestra added to the pleasure of the evening. Chrysanthemums in the drawing room made a showy decoration. Dasies were used in the library, and magnolia branches in the hall were effective.

Yellow and white were the colors effectively used in decoration, the score cards being autumn leaves in the yellow shades, and chrysanthemums were disposed in vases with beautiful taste. The dining room, where a delicious luncheon was served, its details in yellow and white, was especially inviting, the table being covered with renaissance lace pieces having yellow satin centers, the centerpiece of yellow and white chrysanthemums, and the candelabra shades, etc., in yellow and white.

IN THE COURTS.

Past scores were wiped out for Henry Gaddy yesterday and he was given his freedom by Judge L. S. Roan, of the criminal branch of the Fulton county superior court. The original charge against Gaddy had been the murder of Ben Stroupe, a farmer, in the Oak Grove district of this county a year ago last month. Andy Morgan was also arrested at the same time as Gaddy on the same charge, and both were tried, convicted and sentenced to terms in prison. Their attorney, Charles J. Moore, of the firm of Moore & Moore, appealed both cases to the supreme court. The judgment against Gaddy was reversed on the ground of insufficient evidence. That against Morgan was sustained, however.

Morgan committed suicide at the Chattahoochee brick yards by jumping into a well on the second days of his term in the penitentiary. Gaddy, on the other hand, was brought into court yesterday, but as Solicitor General Hill had no new evidence against him, the charge was dismissed and Gaddy was released with clean clearance papers.

Aside from this little of interest took place in the criminal court yesterday. Attorney J. W. Moore represented Solicitor General Hill in the prosecutions, as the latter was occupied in the supreme court. There were about ten cases disposed of.

Application for a charter for the Atlanta Medical Journal Company was yesterday filed in the office of Arnold Broyles, clerk of the superior court. The proposed company is to be capitalized at $5,000 and is to print medical publications and transact other business of a similar nature. The petitioners are Miller B. Hutchins, Bernard Wolff and Marion Hillyer Wolff and the petition was filed by N. L. Hutchins, attorney.

The other transfers filed for record yesterday were:

BECAME INSANE IN BARBER SHOP

A. F. Dennett Went Daft and Caused Panic.

Police Arrested Him and Locked Him Up — He Came To Atlanta from Macon — His Home Is in New Hampshire.

Becoming suddenly insane, Arthur F. Dennett, who came to Atlanta from Macon yesterday morning, caused a panic in the barber shop in the Piedmont hotel yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock. The man was so wild and excited and made such terrible threats that all the barbers fled and in a few minutes Dennett had the shop to himself. Officers White and Terrey were sent for. They arrested Dennett and locked him up on a charge of disorderly conduct until his condition could be investigated.

When Dennett first entered the barber shop he jumped into a chair and cried out for a Turkish bath. He insisted that the bath be brought him. When some of the barbers tried to expostulate with him he became angry. There were so many razors lying around and the man had such a wild stare out of his eyes that it was deemed advisable to let him have the place to himself until officers could be summoned.

At the police barracks Dennett took a roll of one dollar bills from his pocket and proceeded to tear them up. He had destroyed two of the bills before the turnkey could stop him.

The man said he was a close friend of President Roosevelt, but would vote for Parker. He talked in a wild and rambling manner all the the afternoon and evening. In his pocket was found a railroad ticket from Macon to Savannah. He had been to see the state fair and had evidently come to Atlanta by mistake.

Dennett was identified by a traveling salesman who knew him. His home is in Concord, N. H. He went to Savannah by water and from Savannah went to Macon. The drummer informed the police that Dennett had once received a blow on the head, but had never before shown any signs of insanity. Mrs. Dennett is in Savannah, and she has been notified of her husband's condition. She will probably reach Atlanta today.

RAILWAY NOTES.

The death of Charles Parson, the well-known railroad president and financier, was frequently mentioned in Atlanta railroad offices yesterday. The late Mr. Parson began his rather remarkable career at Savannah, Ga., and he was the personal friend of a number of Georgia railroad men.

The following dispatch from New York, received at The Constitution office yesterday, gives a brief sketch of his life:

New York, October 20.—Charles Parson, who had been at the head of many railroads and one of the most prominent financiers of the country, is dead at his home here from heart disease.

He began his business career at Savannah, Ga., joined the New York stock exchange in 1870, and a few years later began reorganizing various railroad properties. He was elected president of the Rome-Watertown and Ogdensburg railroad in 1883, and after leasing that road to another line, became president of the New York and New England railroad. He also served five years as president of the South Carolina and Georgia railroad. He was a director in many railroad companies and of several New York banks.

What is known among passenger men in the south as "the oyster shuckers movement" has begun. This bit of information throws a curious side light on a very important industry, which deals directly with the pleasure of every man who eats—and the average normal man does eat.

There passed through here yesterday about seventy "oyster shuckers." They were from Baltimore and traveled over the Southern, their destination being such coast cities in the south as pack and can oysters. The seventy included men, women and children. They carry bedding and cooking utensils with them, and earn a living—a meager one—by opening oysters, at so much per oyster, through the winter months.

Those who passed through Atlanta yesterday were the vanguard of "the shuckers." Today a special train of eight coaches and eight baggage cars will pass through Atlanta over the Southern with some 300 shuckers on board, and for several weeks to come there will be small parties and stragglers bound for southern points where their services are in demand.

Almost all the "oyster shuckers" come from Baltimore, Md.

Circus day brought with it one big event to the local passenger folk of the Atlanta and West Point, for that road ran an excursion from West Point to this city bringing in some 1,400 or 1,500 persons from all along the line of the road. The special carried about twelve coaches and arrived at the union depot at 10:30 o'clock in the morning. The departure was made about 11 o'clock last night. The excursion was conducted by C. L. Wickersham, traveling passenger agent

W. H. Howard, Jr., secretary of the Southeastern Passenger Association, left yesterday for New York, where he will attend and report the meeting of the conference committee of the association to be held in that city on October 22.

TEAMS TO MEET FOR TROPHY CUP

Will Be a Hard-Fought Contest on Ranges at Lakewood Tomorrow.

The annual shoot for the Atlanta trophy cup will take place tomorrow afternoon at the Lakewood rifle range. This cup was given some years ago by the officers of the local militia companies for the best rifle team in the city and was to be competed for annually.

The cup was won three years successively by the Governor's Horse Guard and then for five years no team challenged the holders. Last year the Fifth regiment took up rifle practice in earnest and the Atlanta Grays put up a splendid fight for the cup and were only beaten by a narrow margin.

Tomorrow three teams, the Governor's Horse Guard, the Atlanta Rifles and the Atlanta Grays, will enter. The Horse Guard team is composed of veteran crack rifle shots, all of whom have been on the Georgia teams at the Seagirt and national shoots.

The teams from the Atlanta Grays and Atlanta Rifles are composed of younger men who are anxious to take the measure of the Horse Guard and a surprise may be in store for the Horse Guard, for the Rifles and Grays have twice this year defeated the crack shots of the Sixteenth infantry from Fort McPherson.

The Atlanta military men are expecting one of the closest and prettiest rifle matches ever shot in Atlanta.

The conditions of the match will be five men to a team and ten shots per man at 200 yards, 500 yards and 600 yards.

GRACE BOND WINS IN TROTTING RACE

Favorite Defeated Field of Five at Memphis.

Tillie Saal Won in the 2:12 Pace. Dan Patch Will Pace an Exhibition Mile Today—Driver of Riley McKeen Thrown and Hurt.

Memphis, October 20.—Grace Bond, the Lexington futurity winner, easily defeated a field of five 3-year-old trotters in straight heats for the Kentucky stock farm stake at the Driving park this afternoon. The daughter of The Bondsman led from start to finish in both heats, and was never in trouble. Alta Axworthy was the medium of heavy betting for the second heat. In several books he was literally backed off the board. Grace Bond was always favorite, however, and led Axworthy throughout the race.

Sphinx S. won the concluding heat of the 2:07 pace, unfinished from yesterday. The finish was a spirited one, Spears landing the son of Spinx winner by a narrow margin. Miss Jeanette outclassed her field in the 2:30 trot and won eased up in straight heats. The best race of the day was that for 2:12 pacers. Tillie Saal, favorite, won handily from Lulu May. In this event Riley McKeen, driven by "Knapsack" McCarthy, fell on the back stretch, throwing the driver violently to the ground. McCarthy was unconscious for half an hour and was removed to a hospital, where he is suffering from a broken collar bone and other serious injuries. MORE ARRESTS MADE IN CASE

W. J. Rogers and J. H. Chapman Are Taken Into Custody.

Augusta, Ga., October 20.—(Special.)—On the charge of being accessories before the fact in the killing of H. A. Videtto by H. D. Chapman here one night last week, W. J. Rogers and J. H. Chapman were today arrested and committed to jail. It is believed that the grand jury has found true bills against the two, in addition to one against H. D. Chapman, who did the killing.

Chapman shot Videtto in the latter's store about a week ago because Videtto had insulted his wife.

When Chapman entered the store he was accompanied by his brother and father in law, W. J. Rogers. The latter took part in the conversation that preceded the shooting, telling Videtto that the lady he had insulted was his daughter and that he had better accept the 100 lashes that Chapman proposed giving him, or he might get worse. Videtto refused the proposition and a moment later was shot. H. D. Chapman was arrested and committed to jail on the charge of murder

Grand Jury Begins Work.

No legal steps were taken in the case until this morning, when the grand jury began an investigation. Late in the afternoon the solicitor gave the sheriff orders to arrest Rogers and the other Chapman who had been present at the shooting and to hold them pending further action of the court.

The sheriff telephoned them that they were wanted and they went down and submitted to arrest without a word. C. Henry Cohen, who represents the defense in the case, says that efforts will be made at once to have the last two arrested released on bond.

Chapman, who was arrested yesterday, is chief train dispatcher of the Georgia railroad. Beyond accompanying his brother to Videtto's store he took no part, so far as known, in the difficulty, or the conversation that preceded the shooting.

Will Improve Building.

Augusta, Ga., October 20.—(Special.)—Postmaster Smythe has received notice from Washington that additions and improvements to cost several thousand dollars are to be made in the government building in this city.

The MASQUERADER
by
KATHERINE CECIL THURSTON

A Curious Letter to the Editor of "Harper's Bazar"

"I am reading that most clever and wonderfully well-written novel, 'The Masquerader.' I have very serious heart trouble and may live years—and may die any minute. I should deeply regret going without knowing the general end of that story. May I know it? Will be as close as the grave itself if I may. I have my own theory of the end. I think Loder is in some way the real Chilcote—I just felt that (I have had so many troubles) it would be just my luck to die, and not to know the end."

The Editor of Harper's Bazar was so much interested in the letter that the advance proofs of "THE MASQUERADER" were sent to the lady.

A SALARY FOR LIFE

That is the contrast between Annuity and ordinary lump sum insurance. Sums of money, or property can be stolen, but Annuity CANNOT BE LOST.

It is paid in 90-day installments for life, and there are no costs, fees or harassing business cares. We attend to all the details, and act in a measure as guardians of the widow's fund, instead of paying the total in a lump sum and leaving her to the tender mercy of investment vending "friends" and enemies.

BEARS GRADUALLY GROWING BOLDER

Due to Reports That Spot Holders Are Showing Some Weakness.

TRADING WAS MORE ACTIVE

In Late Session It Was Claimed Interior Texas Points Were Offering Cotton in New Orleans Below Official Quotations.

New York, October 20.—The cotton market was again partly lower as a result of less unfavorable weather, better Liverpool than expected, but mainly as a result of private reports of weaker interior spot markets. Trading was a little more active than on the previous day, but was comparatively quiet, sales for the day being estimated at only about 250,000 bales. The market opened steady in tone at an advance of 1 point to a decline of 1 point. At first prices showed little tendency. The cables were about as expected on the New York close of the previous day, and while the weather south was not unfavorable on the whole, there was frost at one or two points in Texas, and the tropical storm was still threatening the south Atlantic coast. But gradually the bears seemed to grow bolder and prices were gradually worked away. There was a scattering demand from smaller shorts, and perhaps a little buying on a scale down for long account, but no effort was made to rally the market, and in the afternoon when private wires were received claiming that interior Texas points were offering cotton in New Orleans below official quotations, the market turned weak and left off at within a point or two of the bottom, or at a net decline of 9@11 points. The closing tone was barely steady.

The New Orleans Market.

New Orleans, October 20.—Spot cotton was in good demand, and factors were offering freely at slightly lower rates. Sales 5,700 bales, including 1,600 to arrive and 100 f. o. b. Quotations ⅛c lower.

Futures opened steady with prices from 1 to 6 points lower. Liverpool was better than expected, but the bear side was greatly strengthened by a fairly good weather map, instead of the blizzards and tornadoes that had been predicted. No rain was reported in the belt and but little frost. The bulls had been expecting the bad weather to hold prices up, but without it the market developed a weak undertone, although profit taking by short, quietly done under cover, kept prices remarkably steady. In the trading December opened 1 point lower at 9.73, advanced to 9.75, sold down to 9.62 and finally recovered to 9.66. The market closed quiet with net losses of 7 to 10 points.

The Dry Goods Market.

New York, October 20.—The dry goods market is developing in firmness and more business is being done for future delivery. Buyers, however, are still conservative, and their operations are by no means speculative. Scarcity in many lines is developing, and it is evident jobbers are in need of goods. Jobers locally are only indifferently busy.

MARKET REVIEWS

Cothran & Co.

COTTON—There was no change in the market. Offerings of actual cotton, or hedge sales against cotton in the south, which means the same thing, have been too much for the buying power. It is the weight of actual bales at this season that counts, irrespective of the size of the crop. From all accounts we have a good big crop, and it, of course, weighs more than would a small crop. But this does not mean that the market is in for a running decline. A break to a lower level is likely to be slow and there will be frequent rallies. But until the movement begins to diminish, it looks as though we might have a sagging market. The question of movement is one that will soon be determined. The maximum figures have been reached in October in recent years, though last season the big week was later. From this it would seem as though we are likely to strike the big week soon, and after the movement begins to fall off and the election is over, the temper of the trade could readily be somewhat different from what it is today. There is pressure of a speculative kind, as well as pressure from actual cotton and commission houses are doing little. The position is far too uncertain to justify short selling for a decline, and until the market shows more strength it is not an encouraging purchase. Spot markets are still steady, and spinners are in many instances buying futures in New York because they are cheaper than actual cotton in the south. The market is a very narrow one and prices are easily influenced by the buying or selling. We would play the buying side on good breaks.

WHEAT—There has been an erratic session, early news was not of a character to help prices. The heavy buying by general commission houses soon left the market bare of wheat, and it advanced easily. The advance was met by good selling on the part of some of the heavy longs and some by Armour through houses which had done early buying. There seems to be a lagging in cash wheat at all centers and this caused weakness in outside speculative markets, particularly Minneapolis and St. Louis. The southwest reports better country offerings, and heavy receipts are anticipated. Argentine reported making some hedging sales against its new crop harvesting, which will begin in December. It looks as though the Manitoba wheat would not be brought to Duluth, as the treasury department says all the product has to be exported. This ruling caused an advance in prices, but was met by good sales, carrying prices down 1¾c from top, at which point the Armours were buyers, taking all offerings around $1.13. The close was firm with weak holders well out.

CORN—The market has been erratic. The early portion of the day found good buyers on the part of shorts, and the weather predictions being reported unfavorable induced some new buying. On the advance a report from Kansas City of 5 cars of new No. 2 corn having been received started selling of December, which lost considerable. New weather reports of a more favorable nature also induced weakness. Sample corn was higher early, but was later weak in sympathy with the futures. The locals still adhere to the belief that we will have plenty of corn here next month.

OATS opened a shade higher in sympathy with corn, but weakness in corn and selling by elevators soon caused a reaction. Fair demand for sample stuff at about yesterday's price.

PROVISIONS—At the opening some local scalpers took advantage of the fact that offerings were light and bid the market up. The trade has not been large. Packers bought January and the the feeling among some of the knowing ones is for higher prices all along the line.

STOCKS—The stock market today was very irregular, as anticipated. A quiet recovery of moderate extent met selling by bearish floor operators, and temporary withdrawal of support permitted the list to again drop off to a fair degree. This irregularity may be expected for a time to encourage a shortage, which would porvide a basis upon which to predicate further improvement after a specialty drive or two just prior thereto. We would take more of a trading position for a time with preference for the constructive side, sales 1,385,000.

The Howell Jones Co.

COTTON—The local market for cotton futures opened quiet and rather easy this morning. Early cables from the English market were about as expected, showing a decline of 3 to 4 points. First prices in our market were about unchanged, but lost 7 or 8 points very quickly as a result of short selling by local professionals. The market then quieted down and remained dull and steady until the noon hour, when a further decline was made. But this latter drop found good support around the bottom, and the decline was checked. We have a waiting market, the trade generally being unwilling to liquidate their interests, and a marked radical change in prices can be expected. The short interest at present seems to have faith in their position on the market, and are waiting patiently for a profit, but at the same time there is not much willingness among them to put out fresh lines. The bulls, on the other hand, are giving only moderate support, but are waiting for the "sign of the frost" to enter the market. While we are bullish on the situation generally, we think that a small decline would not be surprising before very much advance can be made. The weather conditions have been so very favorable that big receipts are almost sure to hold the prices down, for a time at least. Farmers are reported to be holding their cotton back, but not all will hold, and so long as perfect weather conditions keep up the movement will be heavy. Port receipts today were estimated at 63,000, against 45,290 last year. New Orleans expects 9,500 to 9,700 tomorrow, and Galveston and Houston 14,000 to 16,000 and 13,000 to 15,500, respectively.

WHEAT—There was active price fluctuations in the wheat market at the opening today, with values generally unchanged to a small decline. After a somewhat weak start the tendency turned strong and an advance of 1c and over was scored. There was quite a bit of liquidation today on account of easy cables and less bullish outside markets, the Minneapolis reports being a disappointment. However, on the lower levels there was good support, and while there was some irregularity during the day the general tendency was quite firm, and some of the larger holders expressed confidence in the general situation. There was some active buying of December wheat by commission houses, and the latter seemed to be representing certain strong interests. The mill reports continued bullish, and there was a fair cash demand, while the country offerings were moderate. Export interests continued to look for an early improvement in the demand for wheat, and announcements to the effect that wheat purchased on the Pacific coast could not be shipped on account of small supply of cars under the direction of the railroads, served to bring out some buying.

CORN—The corn market displayed a better tendency. There was a good demand from shorts, and the latter, in the latter part of the day, were credited with having reduced their accounts materially. Unfavorable weather in Iowa was a feature, and the receipts were smaller, while the foreign advices were distinctly bullish. The statistics, on the whole, were a little more favorable to the price, as decreasing visible supplies were suggested. On the whole, the crop situation was still bearishly regarded. The Price-Current was favorable to the shorts.

OATS—There was some selling in the oats pit for the account of professionals. However, support developed on the lower levels, and as the offerings were not large there was a better ruling of prices eventually. The steadiness of corn had some effect. The receipts were fair.

PROVISIONS—The provision list was steady, sympathetically with the hog market. The trading, however, was very small, and the packers were idle. The movement of product was fair, and there was a somewhat better cash demand.

PIT TRADERS SOLD WHEAT HEAVILY

Sharp Break in Minneapolis for Cash Wheat the Influence.

RALLIED FROM THE DECLINE

Only To Slump Again on Weakness in Corn and a Slackened Demand for Cash Wheat at All Outside Points. Closed Weak.

Chicago, October 20.—Increased primary receipts and lower prces for cash wheat caused a decline in speculative wheat prces here today. At the close the December delivery was down ¾c. May was off ¼c. Corn shows a loss of 1 1-8c. Ots are off ¼c. Provisions are unchanged to 5c higher.

Notwithstanding liberal receipts northwest and easier cables, a firm undertone prevailed in the wheat market at the opening. December was up ⅛@¼c to ⅜@½c at $1.14⅞@1.15⅝, while May was ⅛c lower to ¼c lower to ¼c higher at $1.13⅜@1.14⅛. The initial firmness was due mainly to reported scarcity of milling wheat. A sharp break in prices at Minneapolis, however, soon brought out heavy sales here by pit traders and commission houses, the impression apparently being that the lower prices in the northwest foreshadowed a still greater increase in the country movement in that section. In consequence the limit of time was rather bearish. The declining tendency was checked by an active demand from shorts and some of the big bull traders. Following a rally at Minneapolis the market here also became strong, December advancing to $1.16⅛. May sold up to $1.14⅞. On a sharp break in corn about this time the wheat market was subjected to heavy realizing sales, as a result of which sentiment became quite weak. Selling pressure was increased by larger arrivals at Kansas City and St. Louis, and by exceedingly small exports for the day. The market was further weakened by the execution of stop loss orders and by a slackened demand for cash wheat at all outside points. The low point on December for the day was reached at $1.14¼, and on May at $1.12⅞. Some recovery was made on covering by shorts, but the close was weak, with December at $1.14 5-8@1.14⅝. Final quotations on May were $1.13 5-8.

Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 7,506 bushels, the exports consisting entirely of flour. Primary receipts were 1,059,700 bushels, compared with 901,800 a year ago. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 878 cars, against 827 last week and 585 a year ago.

Firm cables and wet weather in portions of the west caused an active demand for corn early in the session, resulting in a strong market. Sentiment suddenly became extremely weak, however, in consequence of general liquidation of December. The selling was due to an announcement that 5 cars of new corn, grading No. 2, has been received at Kansas City. During the last half hour the market rallied slightly on covering, but predictions of clear cool weather for tomorrow prevented any decided advance. December opened unchanged to ⅛c higher at 49½@49⅝c, sold between 48c and 49⅜@49⅞c and closed at 48⅜c. Local receipts 79 cars, 3 contract grade.

The action of wheat and corn was the dominating influence in the oats market. Commission houses were fair buyers on an early advance, but sold out later in the day. December opened a shade higher at 29⅛c, ranged between 28⅝c and 29⅜@28½c and closed at 28⅜c. Local receipts 114 cars.

Provisions were steady on fair support by pit traders. Trading was very light. At the close January pork was up 5c at $12.40, lard was down 2½c at $7.17½, and ribs were unchanged at $6.47½.

Estimated receipts tomorrow: Wheat 92 cars; corn 142 cars; oats 134 cars; hogs 14,000 head.

STOLE CURRENT FROM COMPANY

This Charge is Brought Against Six Columbus Women.

Columbus, Ga., October 20.—(Special.)—A series of novel cases are on trial in the city court of Columbus. A half-dozen women in the southern portion of the city are the defendants and they are charged with stealing electricity from the Columbus Railroad Company.

It is charged by the company that these women had an ex-employee of the company, who is a practical electrician, to so alter the wires furnishing their houses with electricity that the meters did not register properly, lights thus being obtained at less than the customary rate.

The scheme was discovered by an electric light expert in making some repairs. Investigation led to the discovery that all the more prominent houses of this character in that section of the city had their electric light wires tampered with.

EXCITEMENT HAS SUBSIDED.

Bud Thompson Is Rapidly Recovering from Wounds.

Covington, Ga., October 20.—(Special.) News from Walnut Grove states that the excitement incident to the Saturday night killing has about subsided.

Bud Thompson, whose life was despaired of by physicians Saturday night and Sunday, is rapidly convalescing and it is thought will entirely recover.

Since the coroner's inquest, the result of which exonerated John Thompson for the killing of his cousin, Jesse Thompson, no effort has been made to locate young Thompson. In fact, the people generally of that community commend him for running off, as in all probability had he remained further trouble would have developed.

STOCKS REACTED SHARPLY EARLY

Flood of Profit Taking Olders Brought in Over Night.

MARKET WAS SUPPORTED

Furious Buying of Ontario and Western Late Held Market Firm, and Day's Changes Were Small, Showing Mixed Gains and Losses.

New York, October 20.—The reaction in stocks went further today, but the market gave proof of the wardship of powerful supporters, and the weakness was at no time acute. Vigorous supporting measures were adopted at the opening against the early flood of profit taking which was brought in over night by yesterday's sharp break in prices. The reaction was then seemingly allowed to take its course for a time, and when the selling had exhausted part of its force another movement towards recovery developed. News bearing on values played little part in the movement. The determined liquidation in United States Steel stocks had as much effect on sentiment as anything else. The complacency with which the reaction was generally regarded was due to the supposition that the great financial forces which have made the market favored a reaction in order to shake off weak followers and give opportunity for themselves to secure stocks at a lower level which had been sold at a profit. The special movements of the day were in the local tractions, including Inter-Borough Rapid Transit on the curb, and in Ontario and Western. The movement in the former was in conection with the revived rumors of a comprehensive merger in the local traction field.

The report of a purchase of Ontario and Western in the interest of the New Haven, which was officially denied yesterday, was revived today. Amalgamated Copper weakened in the anticipation of only the regular dividend being declared and rallied on the actual declaration. St. Paul and Atchison offered relatively good resistance to depression and Chicago Great Western made a show of strength. The furious buying of Ontario and Western at the last held the market firm at the rally to the closing. The day's net changes in consequence are very small and showed mixed gains and losses.

COTTON—The pressure upon the market which began during the forenoon continued through the day, and with the exception of a slight rally early in the morning prices have yielded to the offerings. A recent large buyer has been reported to have been a corresponding seller, reversing his attitude, and the weight of the actual crop is now having effect upon the present relatively high prices. A crop scare would easily give the market a different aspect.

L. J. Anderson & Co.

COTTON—Cotton futures continued their downward course today. The active months at the opening showed little change from the previous close, due probably to the decline in Liverpool being slightly less than due. The opening quotations were practically the highest of the day. It is simply a question of too much cotton. The market cannot stand the weight of the enormous movement. Holders of the actual stuff are reported weakening and are selling. Under the circumstances lower prices are confidently expected by the trade generally. The weather continues favorable, and it is only a question of the amount that can be picked, with the scarcity of pickers in some sections, which will govern the size of the crop. The close today was barely steady, 9 to 10 points lower. Port receipts today 62,904 bales, against 42,921 last week and 45,854 last year.

WHEAT—After a fractionally higher opening for wheat a sharp decline took place, the result of a break in prices in Minneapolis and easy cables, as early influences, to which was later added a sharp increase in primary receipts. The exports were decidedly smaller. December, after opening at $1.14 7-8 to $1.15 5-8 and selling up to $1.16 1-8, broke sharply to $1.14 1-4, and closed only slightly above the lowest at $1.14 5-8 to 1.14 3-4, 3-4c lower. May opened at $1.13 3-4 to 1.14 1-8, sold up to $1.14 7-8 and closed 1-4c lower at $1.13 5-8. Primary receipts 1,059,700 bushels, against 901,800 last year. Shipments 569,100, against 925,000 last year. Clearances 7,500 bushels wheat and flour.

CORN—The market for corn showed considerable strength in the early session, unfavorable weather in Iowa, firm cables and small receipts being the influences, but liberal profit taking in December resulted in a sudden change in sentiment, a decidedly weak tone developed and prices broke sharply. The receipt of five cars new corn, grading No. 2 at Kansas City, was responsible for the selling. December opened at 49 1-2 to 49 5-8, sold up to 49 5-8 to 49 7-8c, off to 48c and closed at 48 3-8c, 1 1-8c lower. Primary receipts 279,600 bushels, against 436,200 last year. Shipments 354,500 bushels, against 546,900 last year. Clearances none.

OATS—The decline in oats was only a small fraction, the break in wheat and corn being the chief factor. December closed 1-4c lower at 28 3-4c.

PROVISIONS—Trading was very quiet in provisions, a steady tone in the hog market and moderate support by packers being the features. At the close January was unchanged to 5c higher.

Miller & Co.

COTTON—The limit of endurance seems have have been reached by the holders of cotton in the interior. Farmers show signs of giving up the task of bringing exporters to their knees, by shutting off supplies. From all we can learn today, farmers are free sellers, especially in Texas. Heretofore the unloading has been principally by middlemen in the small towns, people who were carrying a few bales, or a few hundred bales, and who had tired of their holdings. At best, however, the selling by that element might be measured by thousands of bales, while, when the farmer starts to sell, it is a matter of hundreds of thousands. If the selling movement in Texas gets a good headway, there will be immediate competition by farmers in other sections, who will be anxious to sell before a big decline can overtake them. With such a prospect ahead, there is nothing for a conservative long interest to do but to go out and stand from under, until the wave of selling shall have spent its force, or be checked by a demand from mills sufficient to absorb offerings. The merits of cotton, the size of the crop or the ultimate needs of spinners are all brushed aside, when an unloading movement starts. They will not be lost, however, and will come to the front with redoubled force when the weakness shall have passed. The next point of special interest to all concerned is the level at which American mills will be ready to stock up, and the decline just now may be a blessing in disguise to the farmer, by placing the mills in position to get all the cotton they need for immediate use, so that they may start their spindles at full capacity, and put an end to the long months of shut-downs and curtailments. There was a great deal of profit taking on the short side during the day, which prevented futures from declining as much as they otherwise would have done. The closing shows net loss of 10 to 11 points, as compared with yesterday. There are predictions of frost for north Texas tonight, but the market is not in a humor to pay much attention to anpthing, except the disposition of farmers to let go. Liverpool is due to come 1 to 2 lower in the morning.

STOCK—The stock market showed a contraction in volume, and transactions in bonds also fell off. The movements of prices were decidedly irregular and sentiment on the floor of the exchange was mixed. Operations were very largely of a professional character and the room element, while disposed to press as much reaction as practicable, continued cautious in anticipation of a probable unexpected return of support which it was acknowledged might be accorded the market at any time by the larger interests. A recurrence of liquidating sales was clearly evident, but there was also an undercurrent of strength in a number of the more important issues, partly attributable to continued money ease, reactionary tendencies in grain, and to the advice given to clients by a number of the leading commission houses that stocks could be bought on fair recessions. A feature of decided strength was Ontario and Western on well defined rumors that negotiations were in progress of the property by the New York, New Haven and Hudson. The extreme rise was over 4 per cent. The reports were persistent in the face of failure of official confirmation. The recovery in prices in the last hour was pronounced. Some of the rallies from low points extended to 3 3-4 in some cases and Metropolitan gained over 3 points.

Atlanta Real Estate.

We have sold the Peachtree place mentioned several days ago in this space; we have sold the bunch of houses on Fair st.; we have sold the big lot on Garnett st.

We want to sell that Decatur st. Property at $13,000. It is in five blocks of the Kimball house. The lot is 64x200, running through to Pratt st., with a new two-story brick and granite building that cost $9,000 This property will pay good interest and enhance in value. A little inquiry will develop the fact that it is the best proposition on the market in the way of high-grade business property.

"It sounds that way!"

Is that what you say? Well, yes, "Loose-leaf" does suggest loose ends and a general mix-up, and the adoption of a "System" smacks of revolution. But it is only in seeming—any part of the "Loose-leaf" system can be used profitably in connection with your business, without a hitch anywhere. Of course, the more you have of a good thing the better. Can't we couple up a Loose-leaf ledger for you to-day? Let's talk it over, anyhow.
